IN RECOGNITION OF TRUE SERVICES WE RESPECTFULLY DEDICATE THIS, THE THIRTIETH VOLUME OF THE JAMBALAYA
We begin with an explanation and an apology.

Having nursed the JAMBALAYA from a dubious infancy to the robust days of full growth, we are under no illusions concerning its merit and, unlike most fond parents, can readily discern its numerous defects—for all of which we make humble apology.

To the students themselves, however, before they let loose their yells of dissatisfaction, we suggest that they examine their own actions and try to determine how many of these faults are due to their own lack of co-operation. Most of the discrepancies herein, we believe, can be thus explained.

For our decorative scheme we have used the art and culture of the ancient Mayans, whose possibility as an art motif was suggested by the establishment of the Tulane Department of Middle American Research. To Director William Gates, of the department, and his assistant, Mr. Alan Paine, the 1925 JAMBALAYA extends grateful thanks for their kind assistance.

College of Arts and Sciences

The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, with an enrollment of some 400 students, a faculty of about 50 members, and twenty-five separate departments, is the largest subdivision of the University. Besides the very wide opportunity for thorough training in the humanities and sciences both for graduate students and undergraduates, it includes studies in chemistry, philosophy and theology. Under the present departmental organization of the University, this college provides instruction needed for the students registered in the other colleges of the University in subjects like English, modern languages, chemistry, and mathematics.

More than one-half of the total energy devoted to teaching by the staff of the College of Arts and Sciences is spent upon students enrolled in other colleges.
The College of Engineering

The College of Engineering offers broad courses of professional training in the fundamental principles underlying the various branches of Engineering and Architecture. The formulation of these courses is the outgrowth of the best thought of educators and the engineering profession and of our own experience during the last two decades.

In harmony with this principle, a committee is formulating changes in the courses of the schools to give a broader training to those desiring to enter into the management of enterprises.

The technical studies in the College of Engineering are contained in four divisions called schools. The schools are divided into departments. A department includes subjects, or groups of subjects, which are similar in nature. The schools are: Mechanical and Electrical Engineering; Civil Engineering; Chemical Engineering; Architecture.

No candidate for a degree is allowed to restrict himself to the narrow training which might be imparted by any one school. Work in the technical departments of one of the above schools is made the backbone or principal part of a four years' course, and supplemental work is required in other schools in the college.

On the successful completion of a four years' course one of the following degrees is granted depending upon the course followed:
- Bachelor of Engineering in the Mechanical and Electrical Engineering Course.
- Bachelor of Engineering in the Civil Engineering Course.
- Bachelor of Engineering in the Chemical Engineering Course.
- Bachelor of Architecture.
The College of Commerce

The purpose of this college has been since its establishment in 1914, to offer substantial professional training preparatory to a business career. The instruction offered is planned for students sufficiently able and mature to do work of university grade, and no student is received unless prepared to do work of this character. It is essential also to the permanent success of the college that its students approach their work in an earnest professional spirit. Students failing to do so may expect to be asked to withdraw.

In order to make the courses available for business men and women, classes are also held at night from 8 to 9:45. These classes meet in the Association of Commerce building, each course being held one night in each week. By thus devoting only one night, a student may take any one of the night courses offered.
The College of Law

The Tulane College of Law has been in existence since 1847, when it was known as the Law Department of the University of Louisiana, which subsequently became Tulane University.

The purpose of the College of Law is to educate men for successful practice in the courts of Louisiana and in the Federal courts. In all courses special attention is paid to the Louisiana statutes and decisions, but this in no way lessens the value of such courses for students who come from other states. The aim of the college is, through the study and analysis of cases, to develop a legal mind and to ground it in legal principles.

To this end the college has selected instructors for their fitness to teach and to train and for their willingness to devote themselves enthusiastically to these objects.

The college provides a large and well selected law library by the use of which students become familiar with the extensive sources of the law and learn "how to find the law." Its courses cover every important topic, and a period of three years' study of law is required for graduation, enabling the student to become thorough in discipline and knowledge.
The Graduate School

The Graduate School offers to men and women the opportunity of extending and rendering more thorough the scholarship obtained in undergraduate courses, and of advancing the boundaries of knowledge by specialized work and original research.

Properly prepared students who have not attained a baccalaureate degree and who are not candidates for a degree may be admitted, it being understood that the work undertaken by them must be all of a grade higher than that required for the baccalaureate degree. The admission of such students will be upon sanction of the professors under whom they are to study and of the Committee on Graduate Studies. The graduate work done by this class of special students shall in no case count toward the acquisition of an advanced degree.
The College of Medicine

Emerson once said, and very truly, "The first wealth is health." It is more precious to a people than good roads; the improvement of rivers and harbors; the enlargement of army or navy; the extension of commerce; the fostering of agriculture, or the conservation of natural resources. Upon good health depends efficiency and happiness. The line between efficiency and inefficiency is drawn upon the ability of the individual to go to work today; that between happiness and unhappiness upon the ability to enjoy the work of today.

Health is the great problem of life. In the past health has been largely dependent upon curative medicine. In the future it will be largely dependent upon preventive medicine. Statistics show that every fifty seconds a life is lost to our country through preventable diseases. Medical science believes that the known preventable diseases constitute only a fraction of those than can be prevented.

Ever since its establishment in 1834, the Medical College of Tulane University has been doing its utmost to raise the standard of medical education throughout the country. Now, after ninety years of active existence, it has taken its place with the leading medical colleges, not only of the state and country, but of the whole world.
The College of Dentistry

The School of Dentistry was organized twenty-six years ago as The New Orleans College of Dentistry, and in October, 1909, became the Dental Department of Tulane University of Louisiana. With this consolidation the equipment was largely added to, increasing materially the facilities for instruction. Additions to the equipment will be made each session as the progress of modern dentistry demands.

Beginning with the session of 1913-1914, the title of the Dental Department was changed to the School of Dentistry of the College of Medicine.

The school is a member of the American Association of Dental Schools, and is recognized by the National Association of Dental Examiners.

Beginning with the session of 1917-1918, the School of Dentistry has offered a four-year course leading to the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery.
The College of Pharmacy

This school was established in 1838. In 1908, the Pharmaceutical School of the Medical Department became the Department of Pharmacy of the Tulane University of Louisiana, and in 1913, with the reorganization of the divisions of the University related to Medicine, the School of Pharmacy became a part of the reconstituted College of Medicine.

The school holds membership in the American Conference of Pharmaceutical Faculties, organized to promote the interests of pharmaceutical education.

As 'twill tickle some bloke.
We'll tell the old joke—
She sat on a tuck. Bertha Roes.

ROY, ROSE AIMEE, B.A. in Ed. . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

A Madonna-like face and such eyes,
They're brown and they're big and they're wise;
She excels in her work,
And in gym does she shirk?
No answer! We will not tell lies.

ST. MARTIN, RUTH, B.Des . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Ruth is the leader of cheers;
We've rooted for Ruth the' for years;
She's ruthless is Ruth,
And I'm telling the truth—
Our opponents just leave bathed in tears.

Cheer Leader (3, 4).

SAUNDERS, NATALIE, B.A. . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Κ Ψ; Φ Κ Ε
Secretary Undergraduate Medical Society, '23-'24; President D. V. Club, '23-'24; Honor Committee, '22-'23-'24; "Jambalaya" Representative, '23-'24-'25.
"Sam," the "Marantic Kid," is one of the boys who began with us four years ago. He is the typical Jolly fat man, always ready with a joke. One of the best liked men of the class and a good student also.

SEWARD HAFF WILLS . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Stanhope, New Jersey
Ν Σ Ν
A native son of New Jersey who did college work at Rutgers and then came South. Steady, patient, good-natured, talkative only at times (the correct ones) and very much interested in medicine.

      George's ready smile, keen sense of humor, and hearty laugh make him a favorite with everyone. His friends can best be counted by his acquaintances.

RALPH STEWART AKERS . . . . . . . . . . . Fairmont, West Virginia
\(\Xi\ \Psi\ \Phi\)
Class President, '21-'22; "Jambalaya" Representative.
      A man of which West Virginia may well be proud. Truly a gentleman, a man worthy of being called your best pal. His many friends are proof of his popularity.

WILLIAM JULIAN APPLE . . . . . . . . . . . Chicota, Texas

Class Secretary and Treasurer, '23-'24; Honor Committee, '23-'24.
"Cubby" is capable of filling all the requirements of a dentist. We have seen girls look at him just to see those eyes and black hair.

Foster Clarke Fant . . . . . . . . . . . . . Coahoma, Mississippi
(Not in panel)
Class President, '23; Sorh Football, '19-'20-'21-'22; Tug-o'-War, '19-'20; Pre-Medical Society, '18; Class Football, '18-'19; Class Basketball, '19-'20.

Cecil Floyd . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Phoenix, Alabama
Square and Compass; Class Secretary, '23; Business Manager-in-Chief of "Jambalaya," '25; Class Manager of "Jambalaya," '25; Vice-President Square and Compass, '25; Captain in Regulars; Chairman of Key and Ring Committee.

Cecil, the answer to a maiden's prayer, joined us in our freshman year. He is an all-round good man, never failing to help a friend in need. Cecil is a modern Cicero, never failing to let his silver-toned voice be heard when the occasion arises. We predict that when he returns to his native state, Alabama, it will boast of a four-footed man, a good dentist, and a modern sheik. Cecil, we are proud to say we are classmates of yours.

Fred Marcus Fridge . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
"Freddie" is a regular old "tar," and we are more than glad to say we know him. To know him is to love him.

Aristede C. Gaulon . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
"Frenchie" is a local boy of the highest quality. As Caesar conquered so will "Frenchie."

Thomas Jesse Guy . . . . . . . . . . . . . Macon, Mississippi

Honor Committee, ’23-’24-’25; Class President, ’24-’25.

Paul, one of Alabama's prides, a real man, an honest fellow, and a whip with the women.

PERCY CHARLES HUDSON . . . . . . . . . . . . Kosciusko, Mississippi
“P. C.” is a clean-cut, upright, and honorable character. Such a man is a cogent factor within the ranks of any profession. Would that the world had more of this kind of men.

JAMES MARK HOUSTON . . . . . . . . . . . . Meridian, Mississippi
Ψ Ω; Σ Η
Square and Compass; Class Vice-President, ’21-’22; Invitation Committee, ’24-’25.

Mark belongs to the Benedicts. Words cannot express our thoughts of him, but we tried by our actions, for he is president of the Dental Student Body. It is certain that no better man could have been selected.

RICHARD WYNN IRVINE . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Loyalty is his motto, making friends is easy for him. He has the virtues which create confidences. A friend to man.

JOHN HARVEY JOHNSON, Jr. . . . . . . . . Brookhaven, Mississippi

Hermen Weil Frank ........................... Gadsden, Alabama

Coming from the dense wilds of Alabama to attain civilization, Frank may be taken as a sterling example of the beneficial effects to be gotten from a college education.

John William Gladson ........................ Ringgold, Louisiana

Having in three years amassed the sum total of knowledge in the Arts and Science College, John switched over to commerce to shed his shining light on that department of the University.

Glendy Burke (1, 2, 3); Dramatic Club (2, 3); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (2); Band (3); "Hullabaloo" (2, 3).

Edward Monroe Gordon, Jr. ........................ Westwego, Louisiana

X2X

The third member of the Brown, Celli and Gordon triumvirate. If Gordon comes then Brown is not far behind.

Orchestra (2).

Bernard Hochfeld ................................. New Orleans, Louisiana

If there could be a fourth member of the above-recorded triumvirate this would be it. Our nominee, politely of course, for the presidency of the Sons of Rest.

Lionel Lippman Kahn ............................ Raine, Louisiana

When Lionel came to New Orleans he started to sing "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More," but he has since changed his mind, and as soon as he gets his M.D. will go back and give the home town a treat.

Henry Molin Robinson . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Preparing to study law, Pete took up a scientific course and did so well at it that the university made him a member of the faculty. Consequently, he may not ever study law after all, but go through life messing up atoms and electrons.

Dramatic Club (2, 3, 4); Vice-President Arts and Science Student Body; Class Wrestling; Tug-o'-War and Football.

Robert Alexander Robinson . . . . . Gloster, Mississippi

Like the gentleman named Foster who also hailed from Gloucester, "Bob" is also a doctor who is gracing the academic school with his presence.

Phillip John Saleeby . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

All Phillip's accomplishments have been in the line of studies and he has made an excellent college record.

Willie Campbell Scott, Jr. . . . . . . . Cheneyville, Louisiana

During the years Willie has been at Tulane he has done enough studying to graduate four men. Despite this affection for his books, he has nevertheless found time to make himself one of the best liked men in his class.

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

CHARLES McDaniel Smith . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Paris, Arkansas

During his life at Tulane, Charles has always behaved like a true Parisian and a credit to his home town.

CLARENCE HAAS SNELLING . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

K A

The last of the Snelling clan and the only one that ever grew bald from studying. Clarence’s tonsorial equipment has long been the secret sorrow of his soul, but it has not prevented him from becoming, especially among the older men on the campus, exceptionally popular. Will probably end up as a truck farmer or a bus driver in Moscow. Everyone in Russia has plenty of hair.

Class President (2); Class Wrestling (1); Scrub Football (3); “Jambalaya” Representative (1); White Elephants (1).

SIDNEY LOUIS TABERY . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Slidell, Louisiana

If the reports we have heard are true, this young gent is the apple of Sidell’s eye. Already there is talk of making him chief of police or the fire department, but like a wise man he has spurned these honors, protesting his affection for the simple life.

HENRY ASHTON THOMAS . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Δ Σ Φ

In the spring Ashton’s thoughts, besides turning to love, turns also to the great American sport—then how lessons suffer!

Class President (3).
Like a true wise man Carl shook the dust of Red Stick from his Congress shoes and hit it out for New Orleans and Tulane—which act gives silent testimony to his perspicuity and thinking powers.

For four years Bertram has worked hard and conscientiously and now at graduation he can look back on a school life of true accomplishment.

Reserved, well groomed and proper, "Bob" relies upon the well-known adage that "Silence is the road to success." One of the men who are bound to succeed.

"Jimmy," after losing one Ford and struggling for four years with Latin, math and history, thoughtlessly plunged into the seething sea of law and now battles with the demons of real and personal property far into the night. A slow but sure groundgainer and destined unfortunately to become a successful barrister.

An air of dignity and calm in the classroom do not mean that he has no pep at a party.

Tulane Engineering Society (2); "Hullabaloo" Representative (4).

LESTER B. CLARK . . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

One of the many reasons that induced the Kaiser to move to Holland. When we picked him unanimously for president of the Engineering Society, we weren't making any bad guess. For further encomiums, refer to Mrs. Clark.

President Engineering Society (4); Secretary (2).

JAMES MURRAY CRACROFT . . . . . . . Washington, District of Columbia

Alexandria's only representative in the class; but if this is a fair sample of Alexandria quality, we'd like to have some more.

Engineering Society (2, 3).

GEORGE J. DIGARMO, JR. . . . . . . . . . Coconut Grove, Florida

Salvador di Benedetto . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
This young gentleman (who has just come from behind his eternal cigar butt) contains large quantities of business ability besides knowing his engineering. When "Benny" gets into action, the dollars will have to hunt a hole. Watch his dust.

Basketball (3).

Louis Duclos . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Rayne, Louisiana

"Duc," although not very widely known about the campus, has always been something of a leader in his class. His departure will be regretted by all.

OTA

Edward E. Elam . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
A wide-awake fellow like "Slip" ought to burn up the road in engineering.

Engineering Society (4); Interclass Basketball (3).

Charles Julius Fritchie . . . . . . . . . . . Slideell, Louisiana
Not related to the well-known Barbara. He has lots of real "hoss-sense," and everything else needed to make up a good solid citizen. (No, Clara, I did NOT say solid bone.)

Engineering Society (2); S. I. A. C. 145-pound Wrestling Champ.

Victor F. Hartel . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
He boasts the widest grin in the Senior Class. If you omit the Hartel-Thomson combination, you omit half the gray matter of the school.

Class Track (1, 2); Secretary Tulane Engineering Society.

Edmund F. Hughes . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
He's cheerful and good natured, and likable all around. If he doesn't make good in engineering, it will be because nobody wants an engineer at all.

A lineal descendant of Beau Brummel. He's the latest word in "How the Modern Tech School Student Body President Should Appear."
White Elephants (1); Olive and Blue (2); Sphinx Club (3); Glee Club (3).

FRANCIS A. LANDRIEU . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Our Glee Club songbird goes in for loud, clear tones in singing and haberdashery. An excellent moustache farmer, raising a new crop about once a month.
Wrestling (2); Engineering (3); Glee Club (3).

WILLIAM HAROLD LEONARD . . . . . . . New York, New York
"Bill" was the class infant four years ago, but he is no longer. He certainly has handled a full-sized job this year, keeping up with engineering studies, "scrub faculty" work and—er—several outside interests; and he's handled it well.

LEO LEVY LOWENTRITT . . . . . . . . . Winnsboro, Louisiana
Here's one with the gift of tongues. He could argue the dean into taking up an I. C. S. course. However, there's a lot of engineering knowledge packed where he needs it.
Engineering Society (2, 3).

LAWRENCE MARTIN . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

T. L. McNAMARA . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

T X E

A fellow with a name leading off with "Mc" and with a grin in his eyes might develop into a preacher, but the chances are against it. "Tim" isn't likely to dampen the spirits of any gathering.

E. J. McSHANE . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

The math shark of two colleges. Greatest ambition—to prove all text books wrong and to have a joint debate with Einstein. Labors under the hallucination that he can sing arias.

Engineering Society; Class Historian.

JOSEPH FRANK NUNENMACHER . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Don Juan reincarnated. "Joe" buys passionate purple stationery by the bale, and has a filing index that looks like a directory. He wouldn't read Cafe Bruko because Sunday school literature wasn't in his line.

Secretary Class (2); Glendy-Burke (2, 3); Engineering Society (4).

PASCAL PERETI, JR. . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

E K Σ

"Pas" is another flower who blushes unseen a lot. Not very well known on the campus Pereti is one of the hard-working pluggers of the Senior Class.

Engineering Society (4).

GERALD PERKINS . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

(Not in panel)

Phillip Phillips . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

A little stick of dynamite can make a large explosion.

Class Wrestling (1); Wrestling Team (2); Engineering Society (4).

EVERETT G. ROESSLE . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

"Slim" has a high standing in every sense of the word. If you don't believe he's good just read the faculty notice proclaiming him chief of last year's camp.

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

ASHLEY H. ROBINSON . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
(Not in panel)
"Jack" has always rated as one of the best fellows in the class, and we want to congratulate somebody on his scholastic improvement this last year.
Tulane Engineering Society (3, 4).

LEWIS MONROE SHELTON . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
(Not in panel)
Reputed to be a regular sheik of the desert when at the summer camp. Nevertheless, when at school he is about as steady and dependable a man as can be found.
Tulane Engineering Society (3); President R. A. C. (4).

JOS. F. THOMSON . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
We had always heard that people existed that liked work, but weren't convinced until we met Fraser. In the classic words of somebody or other, "Sapit o vos sus." (He kneweth his eggs.)
Tulane Engineering Society (4); Vice-President Class (4).

JOHN WALKER, JR. . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
K Σ
In spite of his nickname, "Jack" has often been seen on the campus quite sober. He has been offered a fortune for his secret of getting maximum enjoyment out of college life and still ranking among the best students.
Scrub Football (1, 2, 3, 4); Interclass Football (2); Engineering Society (4); Vice-President (4); T. W. S.

CHARLES WIRTH III . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Φ K Σ; T X E
Famous for his essay on "The Harmful Effects of Study on a College Education." Our candidate for the most collegiate man on the campus.
Engineering Society; Class Treasurer (2); Class Vice-President; "Jambalaya" Class Representative (3); Glendy Burke (1).

ALBERT G. WYLER . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Having been class president ever since sophomore year, "Al" needs no further remarks to show his rating with the class.

COLLEGE OF LAW

EBERHARD P. DEUTSCH . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Meticulous, crafty, brimming with legal virility. Cannot maintain pulchritude and a moustache at the same time.

JOSEPH M. JONES . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Δ K E; Φ Δ Φ
Unassertive in the classroom, depending upon the golden and well-bred quality of silence for success. Possessing already a great repute for legal erudition by virtue of having a grandfather who edited the "Civil Code."

FREDERICK C. OESCHSNER . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

\( \Delta K E; \Phi \Delta \Phi; \Sigma \Psi \)

Temperamental, elasticity with a penchant for using correct English to disguise ignorance of the subject. The longest (and safest) distance between two points is by circumlocution.

Class Track (1); Interfraternity Basketball (1); Glee Club (2, 3, 4); President (3); Glendy Burke (2); Pan-Hellenic (1); "Jambalaya" Representative (5); Thirteen Club; Olive and Blue; Sphinx Club.

JOSEPH J. RUFFO . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Square and Compass.

A Sunday school smile and the devil's own laugh. Righteousness proceeding to Italy to regain papa's estate from unscrupulous denizens of the Fascist republic.

Glendy Burke; Engineering Society (1); Class Track; Class Basketball; Class Boxing; Class Secretary (1, 4, 5); Moot Court (3, 4, 5).

WALKER BRainerd Spencer, Jr. . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

\( \Delta K E; \Phi \Delta \Phi; \Sigma \Psi \)

(Not in panel)

Incongruous combination of a Princeton viewpoint with a Tulane degree. Supercilious contempt for that which is not the law in black and white.

A.B., Princeton, '22.

FRANK PALMER Stubbs . . . . . . . . Monroe, Louisiana

\( \Delta K E; \Phi \Delta \Phi; \Sigma \Psi \)

(Not in panel)

Five feet-odd of well-groomed courtesy, gleaned from Southern tradition. Characterized further by a Southern languor which desired its law served hot and predigested.

Sphinx Club.

JOHN M. SHEVVIN . . . . . . . . Alexandria, Louisiana

\( \Phi \Delta \Sigma \)

Who knows what the Sphinx cogitates all day long? Here, oh worthy sirs, is its modern counterpart with carefully dressed hair and inscrutable expression. An A.B. from Vanderbilt might well be called a secret shame.

WALTER JOSEPH BARNES . . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Π Κ Α

"Bully Boy" Barnes, like the ancient mariner, has been around the world quite a bit and can tell you anything about it from Hong Kong to P'hoenix, but he excels in his description of the inhabitants therein, with special emphasis on the fair sex.

GEORGE KING BRADFORD, JR . . . . . . . . . . . Rayne, Louisiana

It's "Once a friend, always a friend" with "Brad." Not so widely known perhaps, but most popular among those who really know him. Where pugnacity and grit, combined with a good heart and a level head are essential, George will surely be there.

Commerce Key (3); "Jambalaya" Representative (4).

JACK BRAUMILLER . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . . Texarkana, Texas

Φ Κ Σ

"Jack" is a man of varied activities. He has been an outstanding student in many of his courses, and at the same time he has never been known to miss a show downtown in all his years at the university. If you want to know anything about the theater, ask "Jack." He knows.

ROBERT BAILEY CATO . . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

A quiet fellow with a faculty for covering ground. He is a C. P. A. now and will be a B. B. A. very soon. We expect to be studying a book on auditing by Cato in a few years.

JOSEPH PATRICK HENICAN . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana

Β Θ Π

"Lily-of-the-Valley," also known as "Bugs." A letter man in two sports, his loss will be felt keenly by the university.

Sphinx Club; Olive and Blue; "13" Club (1); Class Vice-President (2, 3); Com-ball (1, 2, 3, 4); Assistant Manager Track (3); Track Manager (4).

ALBERT E. HOLLEMAN . . . . . . . . . . . . . Beaumont, Texas

"Holly" is a veritable human dynamo. A man who can get more done in less time than any man in the university. We believe that he has well merited the confidence and honors bestowed upon him and his honors have been many.

President Student Council (4); President Commerce Student Body (3, 4); Leader
Tulane Band (3, 4); Director Tulane Dramatic Club (2, 3); Chairman Home-

A man who believes there should be more to a college education than just the learning absorbed from textbooks; and from his varied connections established while here he will probably derive as much benefit as from the book learning he received.

GEORGE FREDERICK LAMPRECHT . . . . . . . Cleveland, Ohio
Φ Δ Θ; K A
"Limber" is one of the most versatile football players that ever donned a green jersey and beyond a doubt the best golfer that ever matriculated at Tulane. A good athlete and a good man. We are proud of you, Fred.

Varsity Football (2, 3, 4); Golf (2, 3, 4); Runner-up Southern Collegiate Finals (3, 4).

HERBERT STERLING LEA . . . . . . . . . . . . . New Orleans, Louisiana
Herbert is a genial, good fellow with a deep-laid sense of humor. He is studying Christianity so as to be better able to sell Christianity to the Far East. It is pleasant to contemplate the great good that Herbert will some day render to mankind.

CHARLES ELGY NULL . . . . . . . . . . . Demopolis, Alabama

A fellow who is just a little too modest for his own good. That he has ability cannot be questioned. Uncle Sam recognized it and made a captain of him in the World War. He never says much, but is one of the proverbial Trojans for work.

Commerce Key (4); Class President (4).

JOHN BERT PERKINS . . . . . . . . . . . Brookhaven, Mississippi

Σ X

The one man whom four years of college struggling could not phase. Never once in all our association with him have we seen him peeved or irritated about anything. His disposition will be a great asset in the business world. "Sunny Perk," we salute you!

Class Secretary (3); Vice-President (4); Academic Board (3).

HARRY DEMONY PORCIAC . . . . . . . New Roads, Louisiana

Ο Τ Α

From the way he digs into finance problems, or any kind of problems for that matter, Harry might have been the originator of the famous expression "Il ne passe pas." The little fellow with the big grin is also, besides being one of the best students of his class, one of the most popular men in the Commerce School.

Junior Pharmacy Class History

He who would appreciate the work of the Junior Class of Pharmacy should make a little journey to the laboratory and see this class at work under the supervision of Dr. Brown, making the magic waters which fill the air with such delightful aromas. Lo! unto him who does not know how to fold filter papers or who does not display his spatula!

Our class numbers at present thirty-seven. The pestle and mortar seem to have held some attraction for the fairer sex as well; for there are eight of them in number, having a majority over all the other classes of the university. As our leader and president we selected the “tallest” man in the class, Mr. David Norman. Slightly shorter in stature is our vice-president, Mr. H. C. Tally. Because Mr. J. H. Campbell has so beautiful a handwriting, we chose him as secretary. To represent the class in the Hullabaloo and Jambalaya, Miss Cecile Fisher and Miss Willy Woodward were elected, while the privilege of handling any ready money was given to a Texas boy, K. R. Harris.

With the exception of Dr. Brown, who needs no introduction, all the faculty members are new. Mr. Bosch, a Tulane graduate of ’24, decides our fate in physics. Mr. Prout teaches us materia medica; Mr. Bost, our chemistry instructor. Mr. Green brings us in closer touch with nature through his lectures in botany.

Were I an astrologist or a soothsayer I would give a horoscopic reading for each member of the class, but as my lot is that of a class historian I should therefore say:

“Here’s to the Class of ’26! May each member in the near future occupy a thriving corner in his or her respective city or town and dispense of drugs according to the United States pharmacopoeia. May the pestle and the mortar ever be an inspiration to these prospective pharmacists!

FOOTBALL REVIEW

"Doc" Williams and Coach Shaughnessy

Experiencing the greatest success ever met by a Tulane football team, winning recognition throughout the country as "The Wonder Team of the South," the 1924 Greenie eleven will go down in history as the greatest and the gamest squad ever to carry the Olive and Blue into battle.

Lighter by pounds than any of its opponents, the wave surged relentlessly on and then, when the tide had subsided, were to be seen the battered teams that were of the best in the South. Vanderbilt, highly-touted champions of the South, headed by All-American Bomar and All-Southern Reese, felt the sting of the Greenies and went down in defeat. Auburn, too, drank deep of the dregs; Tennessee fared no better and the L. S. U. Tiger was bearded, shaved and skinned in his own brand-new den.
In every game that Tulane played, twelve men were in action, each working as an instrumental part of a mighty machine—eleven on the field, fighting defiantly for each inch of sacred ground, never tiring—and the twelfth man, the man who felt every blow and setback, the man who exulted in every Tulane gain, the man on the bench—Coach Clark D. Shaughnessy, the "Miracle Man" of football.

Tulane, 14; Southwestern, 0

The first opponent to face the 1924 Greenies was the Southwestern Institute, of Lafayette, La. Each year finds the upstate lads presenting a better brand of football and this year was no exception to the rule.

The early season’s play, coupled with the heat of a true Indian summer, found the Greenie machine running rather raggedly and Shaughnessy’s outfit was forced considerably to shove over a 14-0 victory. "Brother" Brown, captain of the squad, demonstrated in this opening scene of his last act in Tulane’s football drama that he was the same Brown of old.

Tulane, 32; Mississippi College, 7

A week later, shorn of much of their roughness, the Greenie machine got under the way that was to carry them to top heights in Southern football and ran roughshod over the Mississippi College eleven, coming under the wire with a 32-7 verdict over the Collegians. Always a tough nut to crack, the Collegians went into the second half of the game with a 7-6 lead, but all ugly visions of another “Goat” Hale episode were nipped in the bud when the Tulane steam roller in the person of “Peggy” Flourroy, soon to become known as one of the greatest backs in the South, began crashing its way pointward. After that the Greenies had no trouble and amassed twenty-six more points before the final whistle.

TULANE, 42; LOUISIANA POLYTECH, 14

Coming down from Ruston, heralded as the “Dark Horse” on Tulane’s schedule, Louisiana Polytech furnished our third opponent, and The Greenbacks, ever gathering steam, had little trouble in putting over a 42-14 victory. With the score 28-0 in favor of Tulane at the end of the half, the scrub team played almost all of the second period.

Tulane, 21; Vanderbilt, 13

Then came the crowning achievement of the year when, on the ever-memorable, never-to-be-forgotten eighteenth of October, the Shaughnessy clan, before the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in New Orleans, gathered itself for one final effort to “beat Vandy” and swept down the field to a 21-13 victory, while fifteen thousand raving lunatics yelled themselves hoarse. Great games may have been played in Tulane stadium before, great games will perhaps be played there in the future, but never will there be a greater game than on that Saturday in October when a little white-jerseyed eleven pitted itself against youthful giants and impressive titles and came home with the wreath of victory. “Brother” Brown, Lester Lautenschlaeger and “Peggy” Flournoy starred on the defensive and a line of fighters from end to end stood out on the defense. Never will there be such a game!

Tulane, 33; Springhill, 0

After the Vanderbilt struggle the Tulane eleven engaged in a relaxation tea party with Springhill College, of Mobile, the game resulting in a 33-0 victory for the Wave after sixty minutes of ragged, monotonous football.

Mississippi, 14; Tulane, 6

The one blot on an otherwise immaculate page came after the Springhill game when the Aggies, of Mississippi, fighting to retain their place among the unbeaten conference teams, plunged their way at will through the line that had stopped Vandy and was to stop Auburn and so on to a 14-0 decision over Coach Shaughnessy's charges. Hard as the Tulanians tried to muster their attack, they could not gather the punch to win and for the second heart-breaking time in the 1924 athletic year the Mississippi Aggies burst Tulane's championship hopes.

Tulane, 14; Auburn, 6

Then the second "battle of the century" came when the Tulane machine journeyed to Auburn and, in the greatest five minutes of football ever witnessed by pigskin fans, held fast within the shadow of its "no inch line" and repulsed eight terrific Auburn plunges toward the last white marker, whose crossing counted six points. Dazzling their way to a fourteen-point lead and with the game almost over, the Greenies weakened for a few minutes and the straight, hard-playing Tigers of the plain were able to gather six points. For the first time in history Tulane had won a victory over the Auburn Plainsmen.

TULANE, 26; TENNESSEE, 7

"Revenge is sweet," according to one of the immortals, and it was sweet revenge that the Greenies got when they trimmed the visiting Mountaineers of Tennessee on the Saturday following the Auburn clash by a 26-7 score.

Handicapped by the loss of Flournoy, the Greenies were the underdogs for the entire first half. Tennessee's seven-point lead was kept unchallenged by the adverse interpretation of Tulane's new double Minnesota shift by the referee, but Dr. Williams, the originator of the play, explained it to the official during the half, and after play was resumed the Greenback machine started rolling up its points. Again the Tulane line outdid itself and earned the title of "The Seven Wonders of the World" when it stopped the hefty Mountaineers four times with the nose of the ball almost on the goal line.

Tulane, 13; L. S. U., 0

The annual "battle of the century" with the upstate Tiger, staged this year in L. S. U.'s new stadium, found the Greenies triumphing before the greatest crowd of "footballiacs" to view a grid affair in Louisiana. Eighteen thousand fans crowded their way into the Tiger bowl to see the Wave tame the Red Stick feline, 13-0. And the same crowd saw "Brother" Brown "out-Brown" himself in his last appearance on any field in the spangles of the Olive and Blue.

The Scrubs

“Behind the scenes” in every stage effect that dazzles an audience, some humble electrician or stage hand plays an important part, unseen and unheralded, in making the production a success.

The applause and bouquets are for the prima donnas and the leading “rolists.”

And so it is in football. The Greenie machine can attribute its success in no little degree to the painstaking and more often painful scrimmages which the lowly scrubs ran through with them “behind the scenes.”

The Tulane scrubs did their share in making the 1924 season the greatest in Tulane history and credit for the work, though long over due, is deserving.
Freshman Football

The third freshman team at Tulane, judged from a lost and won standpoint, was not very much of a success. In the two most important games of the season, those with the little thin red line of Alabama, and the petite Tigers from Red Stick, the young Greenies twice tasted defeat.

Toward the end of the season, however, the yearlings developed considerable football technique, and showed that they really had the makings of future Green Wavers. Coach Shaughnessy has in “Pat” Brown a plunging back who promises to be a great help next season, and “Shorty” Norman is being touted all over the campus as the chap who will fill the empty shoes of Brother Brown. Besides these two high lights, there are several other members of the freshman aggregation who will furnish stiff competition for their big brothers on the Varsity.
The Cheer Leaders

Tulane this year had a cheering corps of which it might well be proud. Headed by Lawrence Benson and Ruth St. Martin, the squad, composed of Marian Draper, the old reliable; “Mac” McQuiston and Gordon Heffron, kept the stands full of pep and excitement. The noise created by the handful of Greenies at the Montgomery game balanced the combined yelling of all Auburn, and Ruth and Marian made such a hit that they were brought over to the Tiger supporters to lead them in a yell. All hats off to the Greenie cheer leaders. We’re proud of them all.
"T Day"

"T Day," inaugurated a few years ago, has developed into a Tulane institution. On this day, which is generally held jointly with "Home-Coming" day, all the men who have won "T's" for university service are entertained, together with the "old grads."

An exceptionally interesting feature of the celebration is the formation of a great living "T" on the field by the Freshmen to which is added a "U" made by the "T" men as shown in the above picture. There are promises of a bigger and better "T" day than ever before in 1926.
"Burying the Tiger"

The joyous celebration of burying the L. S. U. Tiger has been taking place quite regularly in the past few years, but it was not until the past fall that Tulane enjoyed the unique experience of entombing the Auburn Tiger of the Plains. Above the fighting feline can be seen beginning the march of his final resting place.
Basketball

Running up a string of victories over the leading colleges and universities of the South, unparalleled in Tulane history save by the unmarred record of 1924, the Tulane basketball team rose to heights unprecedented, and made for itself a lasting reputation throughout the country. In twenty-one games played, the Greenie five ran up a string of eighteen victories, balanced by only three defeats, and in the Southern Conference series at Atlanta emulated the success of the football brethren and again earned the title of "The Wonder Team of the South."

After fighting its way through one of the classiest fields of basketball teams in the country to the finals in the S. I. C. tournament, the Greenies fell before the University of California in the cleanest and hardest fought game of the series, the 36 to 28 victory giving the Tarheels the coveted championship.

The Wave pried the lid off the series of astounding victories by administering a 37 to 20 defeat over the Generals from Washington and Lee. Great teamwork, featured by the fine playing of Ellis Henican, were the high spots of the game.

In the second round of play North Carolina, who, by defeating the Maryland five, had won the reputation of a “dark horse,” went down in defeat before the onslaught of the peerless five from New Orleans.

The varied play of the Wave was baffling to the Carolina State team, and the Greenies rushed through them with the same ease with which they dispatched Washington and Lee on the previous night.

As on previous nights, Ellis Henican was the main shining light, but Eddie Morgan, whose passing was unexcelled, and Carl Lind, whose airtight guarding was a contributory factor to success, pressed him close for first honors.

In the third bracket, “Ole Miss,” one of the three teams to win from Tulane in the regular season, was an easy victim, and Tulane was returned winner by the largest score of the tournament, 44 to 23. Too much pass work by the Greenies, and the ability to stop Ellis Henican, who garnered seventeen points and clinched for himself a position on the mythical all-Southern, made the game almost “no contest.”

The victory over “Ole Miss” gave Tulane the right to engage the Tarheels of North Carolina in a battle for the title. The two teams were evenly matched, both led by great offensive stars, Henican and Cobb.

Tulane jumped into an early lead right from the start, when Henican and Davidson rang the basket for field goals. Carolina, however, came back strong, and the scoring sawed until the end of the half found Carolina leading, 14 to 12. With the reopening of play, Cobb and company began to draw away from the Wave, but, nothing daunted, the Greenies hung on, and, by a sudden burst of speed, drew up to the Tarheels at 22 all. Eddie Morgan, after each team had scored another field goal to tie the score again, rang a basket that put Tulane in the lead.

Spurred into action by the Olive and Blue spurt, the Carolina five made a dash of its own, and a series of baskets by McDonald, Dodderer, Cobb, and Purser clinched the game and the title for the Chapel Hill cagers.

The true merit of the Tulane team, their teamwork, passing, and uncanny knack for finding the basket was reflected in the writings of Atlanta scribes, who had nothing but praise for the “wonderful Greenbacks.” And, to top all glory, three of the Greenies, Ellis Henican, Carl Lind, and Eddie Morgan, were given the recognition they truly merited, and were awarded places on the “all-Southern.”

All hail the marvelous Greenies of 1925!
The tennis season of 1924 was the most pretentious ever witnessed at Tulane. Matches were played with Louisiana State, Rice Institute, Texas University in New Orleans, and the team played visiting matches at Louisiana College, University of Alabama, Mississippi A. and M., and at the S. I. C. championship in Atlanta.

The team was picked by Manager Cobb and Captain Murray, and consisted of Dan Murray, Garvin Saunders, Douglas O’Kelly, and Warren Rosen.

Due to lack of experience, the team as a whole was slow to find itself, but the height of success may well be said to have been reached by reason of the winning of the intercollegiate championship of the South in both singles and doubles.
Tulane won from:

I. Louisiana College, three matches to none.
   Murray defeated Durham, 6-0, 6-1.
   Saunders defeated Allen, 3-6, 1-6, 6-2.
   Murray and Saunders defeated Durham and Allen, 6-0, 6-4.

II. University of Alabama, five matches to one.
   Murray defeated Robinson, 6-2, 6-2.
   Saunders defeated Sheffield, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1.
   O'Kelly defeated Rubira, 7-5, 6-3.
   Rosen lost to McClintock, 3-6, 2-6.
   Murray and Saunders defeated Robinson and Rubira, 9-7, 6-1.
   O'Kelly and Rosen defeated Robinson and Rubira, 9-7, 6-1.

III. Louisiana State, three matches to none.
   Murray defeated Barrow, 6-0, 6-1.
   Saunders defeated Kennon, 6-0, 8-6.
   Murray and Saunders defeated Barrow and Kennon, 6-2, 6-4.

Tulane lost to:

I. University of Texas, five matches to one.
   Murray lost to Thalheiner, 6-4, 2-6, 1-6.

In the doubles, Murray and Saunders defeated Fink and Fitzbaugh (Tennessee), 6-1, 9-7; Fitzgerald and St. Fiteben (Clemson), 8-6, 6-3; Solomon and Smith (North Carolina), 6-4, 6-3.

Thus winning both singles and doubles titles.
Golf

For the first time in Tulane's history a golf team was turned out at the institution in 1924. There was a surprisingly large number of youthful Walt Hagens hiding their light under a bushel, and quite a number of entries were filed for the elimination flight. A foursome was selected to represent the university at Atlanta's S. I. C. tournament, and the following men were chosen: Fred Lamprecht, Joseph Henican, Hough Kohlmeyer, and Irving Weil.

With the single exception of Lamprecht, however, the Greenie representatives all fell by the roadside. "Limber," however, fought his way to the finals, and for the second time in two years was nosed out of the championship by Cranshaw, of Alabama.

Prospects for golf in 1925 are exceptionally bright. Lamprecht has returned for his last year, and will surely participate. We here venture into prophecy, and predict that "Limber" will be denied no longer, and will return from the Atlanta finals bearing the championship title that the Cranshaw family has kept from him for two years.
Baseball

The 1924 baseball team, under Coach "Monk" Simons, experienced the most successful season a Tulane nine has experienced since the reinauguration of baseball as a major sport at Tulane, three years ago. The Green Wave won nine games, lost four, and did not drop a single series.

The 1924 team was composed of the following: Catcher, S. Robinson; pitchers, Hoffman, Lautenschlaeger, and Flournoy; infielders, Flournoy, Carraway, Lind, Morgan, Hines; outfielders, Martin, Dufour, E. Henican, V. Robinson.

The Greenies boasted, in Freddie Hoffman, one of the greatest college pitchers in the South. He won eight straight games for Tulane against the best teams of the South and Middle West.

The Greenies pried the lid off the season with a 5 to 2 victory over the Mississippi Aggies, Hoffman holding the Farmers at bay while his teammates battered Lefty Bolton for enough runs to win the game. In the second game with the Aggies, Lautenschlaeger held them to one lone hit, but was outluckled in a 3 to 2 affair and lost the decision.

Illinois, with a large crew of big league prospects, and "Red" Grange in tow, next engaged the Greenies, and, in the first game of the series, Fred Hoffman turned them back with a 7 to 0 whitewash. A 10 to 3 triumph for the invaders in the following game evened the series.

A road trip carried Tulane to Oxford, Miss., where "Ole Miss" and the Wave split a two-game series. Hoffman won a free-hitting 11 to 9 victory after the Greenies had chased three pitchers. Unable to touch Briggs in the second game, the Greenies lost, 7 to 0.

A trip to Tigertown was next in order, and again Tulane split. Hoffman held the Tigers safe in the first game and Tulane won handily, score 7 to 3. In the next game "Monk" sent "Peggy" Flournoy to the box, and the big Greenie first-sacker showed his twirling ability when he gave up but six scattered hits, only to lose by a 4 to 3 count.

A mid-week game with St. Stanislaus put Tulane on edge for the Tigers in New Orleans one week after the Bengal's had played host up the state. Tulane won the game from the Bay nine, 12 to 5, after trailing behind for some innings.

Fredzie Hoffman finished his college career in a blaze when he pitched both games in the Tiger series, and his iron man act was a tremendous success. Tulane copped the first game, 8 to 4, Hoffman giving way to Flournoy in the box after he had held L. S. U. scoreless for six innings. In the final game of the year, Hoffman engaged Bobby Dugas in a pitchers' battle, which Carl Lind broke up in the ninth with a double that sent Carraway scurrying across the pan with the deciding run in the 2 to 1 struggle.

Track, 1924

In 1924, for the first time in several years, Tulane put out a track team, guided by Coach Bernie Bierman. The season was reasonably successful, Tulane winning two meets and losing a like number.

The Greenie spikemen ushered in the season with a victory over the University of Alabama. Coming at the beginning of the season, when the Tulane team was just being whipped into shape, this victory was a veritable dope-spiller.

Going up to Baton Rouge, the Greenies tried to beard the Tiger in his own den, but said Tiger managed to win something and Tulane came home sadder but wiser men.

Auburn came next to the home stadium and eked out a 61½-50½ victory over Bierman’s men.

The last meet with “Ole Miss” resulted in a victory for the Green Wave.

The Jambalaya goes to press too early to give a resume of the 1925 track season.
Newcomb Sports

Due to the fact that the Jambalaya goes to press before Newcomb's athletic season is well under way, this account of such activities must, of necessity, be limited. A few general words, however, may be said to give a composite idea of the athletic activities in which Newcomb engages.

The three major sports to be played this year are Spalding basketball, hockey and baseball which will be played in February, March and April, respectively. These are all extremely popular sports and each class puts forth its best material. Besides the class games much interest is shown in the varsity teams. All three of the varsity aggregations play the alumnae, and extra interest is added by the varsity-faculty game.

In 1924 the Spalding and Hickey varsities won over the alumnae teams, but the baseball varsity met bitter defeat, due to the great pitching of Irma Moss. Excitement rose sky high on the occasion of the faculty game, but in spite of Mr. Maxwell's ability to run, or Mr. Maxwell's ability to snitch bases, the varsity rallied beyond all expectations and won by a score of 8-5.

Swimming, tennis, bowling and croquet are carried on throughout the year. Newcomb's athletic season closed with Field Day in May, after which celebration Trophy Day is held. On this day class cups are awarded and letters given the girls who have made the teams.
Newcomb Ball

When a group of Newcomb girls play a game with Newcomb rules on Newcomb grounds the result is "Newcomb Ball."

Sister classes played each other in the preliminaries this year, the Seniors winning from the Sophomores, and the Freshmen, just to show how quickly they imbibe Newcomb spirit, took their game from the juniors. The Seniors, however, proved, in the finals, that four years' practice made them more perfect and won from the less experienced Freshmen.

Captains of the teams are as follows:

Senior ........................ Maxine DeBuys, Capt.
Junior ................................ Bisso, Capt.
Sophomore ........................... Pattes, Capt.
Freshman ............................ Sara Martin, Capt.
Newcomb Basketball

Basketball came third in the interesting triology of sports that claimed Newcomb's attention this year. Each game was exceptionally good and replete with thrilling moments. The Seniors, unwilling to see the green banner lowered, displayed unusual skill in the final game and won the championship by a margin of twenty points.

Captains of the teams are as follows:

Senior .............................................. Scharff
Junior ................................................ Bayle
Sophomore .......................................... Beer
Freshman .............................................. Martin
Volley Ball

Sister classes repeated the contest for supremacy in volley ball and the games produced the usual excitement. The Juniors experienced little difficulty in disposing of their little sisters. The Seniors, however, were forced to the limit to defeat their opponents and their’s was a hard-earned victory. In the final game the Seniors proved themselves able to hold the championship they won last year as Juniors, and won by a safe margin.

Captains of the teams are as follows:

Senior ................................. Craig
Junior ................................. Cornelson
Sophomore .............................. B. Wolfe
Freshman ............................... M. H. Wilson

Kappa Delta Phi is an honorary fraternity for the promotion of Tulane spirit. It selects each year from the Junior and Senior Classes men who have been conspicuous for school spirit during their university careers. It seeks to obtain its object in two ways—first, by holding forth membership as a reward to those who have done more than the average man for their university; and, secondly, by binding together those who have made unusual effort, thus becoming a force for great good by securing unity of action.

AS WE ARE
We Nominate for the Hall of Fame

Walter Barnett
Because the list of his accomplishments, while at Tulane, looks like a stray page from Who's Who. Because he is one of the biggest men in the university. Because he was awarded the Kappa Delta Phi medal. Because, as editor-in-chief of the "Tuulabaloo," he made it one of the best college papers in America. Because all his honors have not smothered a genuine sense of good humor. And, finally, because in all the years we have known him, he has ever been ready, even at inconvenience to himself, to lend a helping hand.

Lester Lautenschlaeger
Because this flying Dutchman has carved for himself a niche in Tulane's Hall of Athletic Accomplishment that shall last forever. Because, by his superb generalship and clear-sighted ability, he led a comparatively unknown football aggregation to nationwide fame. Because, playing for his first year on the varsity, he was given honorable mention on Walter Camp's All-Americans. And, finally, because as captain of the 1925 Green Wave he gives promise of bringing the Olive and Blue to higher places of athletic fame.

Albert E. Holleman
Because he, in spite of all opposition, made himself probably the biggest man on Tulane's campus. Because he has made enemies, but made them only because he felt bound to hold to the path of what he thought was right. Because for four years he has worked constantly and conscientiously for his university. Because the band, the orchestra and campus dramatics, to a large extent, had their beginnings in him. And, finally, because he did much to eliminate harsh feelings between Tulane and Louisiana State University.
We Nominate for the Hall of Fame

"Bernie" Bierman and "Brother" Brown

"Bernie," because he has been of invaluable assistance to Shaughnessy in turning out football teams par excellence. Because each year he gathers together a track team of sufficient merit to hold their own with the best in the South and, finally, because he is a jolly good fellow.

"Brother" because—well, for a million reasons. Because he is the greatest back in the South. Because he is one of the greatest backs in the country. Because it was his swift heels, guarded by ten other fighting demons, that carried Tulane to victory over Vanderbilt, over Auburn and over L. S. U.

Leon Cahn

Because, as present editor-in-chief of the Tulane "Hullabaloo," he is carrying on a big job in fine fashion. Because he is one of the ablest debaters ever to argue for the Olive and Blue. Because his scholastic record, appended with a Phi Beta Kappa key, is one to be proud of. Because he is a musician of no mean ability and because, on the eve of his graduation, he gives promise of going forth into the world to equal in the broad field of life the record he made for himself at his university.

Dan Murray

Because, by the sheer power of one racket criss-crossed with gut strings, he has made a name for himself, not only locally, but nationally as well. Because, through the strength of that racket he put Tulane on the tennis map. Because at present he is singles champion of the A. A. U. and a member of the doubles championship team. Because each year has found him scrabbling out on the football field and because in various ways, unmentioned for the most part, he has worked tirelessly, always for the best interests of Tulane.
We Nominate for the Hall of Fame

Dean E. J. Northrup

Because, after serving in the dusty cause of law for many years he promises to retire and go to Europe, where throughout those many years, we feel his mind has ever been wandering. Because he is the only professor in the university who ever had a continuous stream of appreciation and affection showered down upon him by his class. And, finally, because to several generations of Louisiana lawyers he has imparted knowledge and proved a friend.

Eddie Davidson

Because he was manager of the greatest football team that Tulane ever had. Because, as a basketball player, he distinguished himself as one of the best forwards in the South. Because he was lightweight boxing champion of the A.A.U. Because, as a member of the Student Council, he has done his best toward helping his school. And, finally, because, as a recognition of his worth, he was elected in his Senior year to Kappa Delta Phi—the highest distinction that a Tulane man can have bestowed upon him by his fellow students.

Marian Draper

Because she is not bad to look upon. Because she is one of the peppiest individuals on Tulane’s campus. Because she is an exceptionally fine dancer. Because she resisted the lure and the white lights of the Follies to study architecture. Because she is always in good humor. But, most of all, because throughout the South she has made a name for herself and come to be known as “Tulane’s great little cheerleader.”
We Nominate for the Hall of Fame

Dr. M. J. White

Because he is honored and respected and even loved by any man whoever was associated with him. Because it is sheer pleasure to be in his classes. Because he has worked tirelessly to put Tulane on the athletic map. Because now, that he has seen his desires accomplished, he is satisfied to sit back and let the holly-hoe go past him. And, finally, more than anything else, because he is a genuine scholar, a true gentleman and a sincere friend.

Frederick Oeschner

Simply because first of all he is one of the few truly cultured gentlemen in the university. Because, for three years, he has withstood the attack of the law and emerged still holding great enthusiasm for the arts. Because he is a writer of respectable ability. Because he is exceptionally obliging to everyone he knows. And, finally, because some day we expect worthy things of him—more significant than legal success.

"Hank" Phillips

Because his virile manliness has made him one of the best liked men on the campus. Because he was deemed worthy of inclusion here by members of the medical school. Because, for three years, he has been an integral working unit in the machinery of the Green Wave. And, finally, because against Vandy and against Auburn, he played the football of his life, helping in no small measure to bring victory to the Olive and Blue.
We Nominate for the Hall of Fame

Bennie Goldsmith
Because he is a good student. Because there is no one to say a harsh word against him. Because, wherever he has been, there he has made friends. And, because, after an inglorious year spent mostly on the bench, he came back and made himself one of the most valuable men on the wonder team of last season.

Spencer McNair
Because he is a dominant factor in Tulane politics. Because he has always worked tirelessly for the university and then, finding his work done, dropped back into the quietness of his studies. And, finally, because we feel that if ever the need shall come, he shall be on hand to work with all his might for his school.

Bennet Wight
Because, like his older brother, he has won for himself a lasting place in Tulane's Hall of Athletic Fame. Because he is not daunted by hard knocks, but always comes back for more. Because of his ever-present grit. And because he is one of the most popular men in the university.

DRAMATICS

Dramatics at Tulane during the past year witnessed a very successful season. Growing from the politic-wrecked foetus of the original Tulane Dramatic Club, two thriving and progressive histrionic organizations now grace the university. The Tulane Dramatic Club, with Val Irion as president, is the older of the two, being the direct descendant of the original Dramatic Club. The Tulane University Players, with a governing board composed of Aline Richter, Albert E. Holleman, Elizabeth Heaslip and Herschel Williams, is the younger organization, a revolutionary offspring of the Tulane Dramatic Club.

Several exceptionally worthy programs have been given, “Adam and Eva,” of the Dramatic Club, and “The Intimate Strangers,” of the Players, being the most important. In addition to this several worthy one-act programs have been given, with promises of more performances to come. Membership is open in both clubs to all members of Tulane and Newcomb.
THE UNIVERSITY
The Tulane University is an organization composed of the presidents of the various student bodies of the different colleges of the university. This council is the supreme law-making body relative to all phases of student affairs which involve the university at large. The Student Council was organized with the inception of student government at Tulane in March, 1915. Members for the past year were as follows:

Albert E. Holleman, President
James M. Houston, Vice-President
R. Sanford Roy, Secretary
Edward A. Davidson

Debating

It is an unfortunate circumstance that the Jambalaya must go to press much too early to contain a complete account of the debating activities of the year.

At the time this article was written all indications pointed to a most auspicious debating year at Tulane. Already a team to debate the Oxford debaters has been chosen, composed of Edmund Cahn, Lawrence Martin, and J. J. Davidson. The Oxford debate, which is to take place in January, is beyond any doubt one of the biggest things in the forensic line Tulane has witnessed for many years.

The triangular debate with Sewanee and North Carolina will be continued again this year, and a single debate has been arranged with the University of Alabama. In addition to this Tulane has been taken into the Southern Forensic League and will send an oratorical representative to Nashville to compete with the leading universities and colleges of the South. As yet no representatives, either in debate or oratory, have been chosen.

The second year of the existence of the Tulane band looks back upon a record of accomplishment of which any organization can be justly proud. Handicapped earlier in the year by the unfortunate death of their director, the band, under the exceptional leadership of Dr. Marten ten Hoor, progressed surprisingly along the road of musical accomplishment.

A trip to Montgomery, on the occasion of the Tulane-Auburn game, was made by the band again this year and the Olive and Blue bandsters did not suffer by comparison with so finished a musical unit as the Auburn organization.

The band again took part in all the carnival parades and several other civic functions. In addition to this, the band ventured very successfully into the field of concert music.

The Tulane band, due to the untiring efforts of its officers and personnel, has become an integral unit of Tulane life, and a long and successful existence can be readily foreseen for it.

The function of the Tulane Y is both social and religious. The Tulane organization is promoting religious activities by means of groups and lectures. Prominent among these, especially this year, have been the chapel services, held twice a week in Gibson Hall, with faculty members as conductors.

Many convenient services are rendered by the Campus Service Committee. The general secretary, Mr. Addison, makes special effort to find employment for students needing help in meeting expenses.

The "Y", as the originator of the popular "Campus Nights", has successfully rendered interesting programs for the past several years, free of charge, to Tulane and Newcomb students and their friends.

The Hut itself is a true center of student activity. It houses a billiard room, an auditorium, a reading room, and the secretary’s office. It is constantly being used by such organizations as the Band, the Dramatic Club, the T. U. Players and other campus organizations.

THE TULANE PRIMER

This initial volume of the Tulane Primer is affectionately dedicated to the Freshmen and to the three men who are doing most for the education of the American college student—Finchley, John Held, Jr., and the man who edits College Humor.

LESSON I

"Papa," said little Rollo, letting fly a spurt of tobacco juice at Golden Jim, the canary, "what is a sheik?"

"A sheik?" replied Rollo's father.

"Yes, a sheik. For Gawd's sake, paw, how do you expect me to get any education if you can’t even tell me what a sheik is?"

"Well—now let me think. A sheik is—a—"

"Hell," said young Rollo, plaintively, "you don’t know anything. I’ll tell you what a sheik is." And the curly-haired boy bit off another piece of Brown’s mule.

"A sheik is a male person, generally a Sigma Nu, who greases his hair and looks like a cross between Somner Benedict, a wax dummy, and Gordon Heffron."

(For illustration see Figure 1).

LESSON II

"Mother," said Snow White, as she reached for the lip-stick, "what is a student?"

"Ho," said little Snow White’s mother, "you would like to know what a student is?"

"What," replied Snow White, "do you think I asked you for—to give my thorax an airing?"

"Well," began Mrs. Snow White, "a student is a young gentleman who goes to college to study and to—"

"Whoa, there, stranger," commented Snow White. "Tie that racket outside. You’re all out of date. A student nowadays is, according to latest authorities, including Whiz Bang and the Tulane Hallabaloo, any man between seventeen and twenty-two who spends four years in college finding out how little he knows, uses halitosis for listerine, calls his best girl his "steaming meat" and writes home three times a week for money."

"Well, well, well," said Mrs. Snow White, "what a smart little girl I have."
LESSON III

“What,” said Little Hans to his big collegiate brother, Big Hans, who was home for the Christmas holidays, “is a flapper?”

“A flapper, son, can be one of two things—either a blessing or a curse. If you get by them they’re a blessing and if you don’t they’re a curse. A genuine flapper has one favorite occupation and one favorite pastime. The occupation is gold-digging and the pastime is spending the gold. Sometimes as a reward they go in for petting.

“Do you ever go on petting parties?” asked Little Hans, pulling up his socks.

“Of course not,” replied his big collegiate brother, Big Hans, “never!”

“Ha! Ha!” and Little Hans rolled about the floor in glee. I’ve got one on you. I do. Gee, but you’re a sap. Ha! Ha! Ha!”

LESSON IV

Little Rollo and Big Rollo who was Little Rollo’s brother were playing craps on the floor. In a very short while Little Rollo had all of Big Rollo’s money, so Big Rollo had to smash Little Rollo in the nose to get it back. After Little Rollo had stopped crying he pulled out his Kentucky corncob and said:

“Brother Rollo, what is a Freshman?”

“You’re a damned nuisance,” said Big Rollo. “Go look up the word in the collegiate dictionary and find out for yourself.”

Little Rollo did so and what do you think he found? On a great big page there were some pictures which were exactly as those shown below.

LESSON V

It was evening. Outside the shadows were darkening and the moon was just rising over the trees. It was Big Hans' last night in town and he and Little Hans were sitting in the garden.

"Hans," said Hans to Hans, "tell me a dirty joke."

"All right," said Big Hans, and he began.

"Five weenies were walking along Canal street giving the jellies a treat. They were giggling and talking to one another. One had a hole in her stocking. The men turned to gape and a newsboy hooted at them.

Finally one of them pointed to a long green object rolling along the middle of the street.

"Do you know what that is?" she asked.

"Sure," replied one of her companions, "It's a street car."

"No," answered the first. "It's a trolley car."

"That," said Big Hans, knocking the ashes out of his pipe, "is a dirty joke."

"Haw! Haw! Haw!" roared young Hans.
Never tell a girl you love her. If she believes you, there are only three courses—marriage, suicide, or breach of promise. If she doesn’t believe you, try another femme.

A Drama of Home, Sweet Home, in One Act

Sweet Mamma: “Who was that dizzy blonde that looked at you so hard? Answer me!”
Sweet Daddy: “I—”
S. M.: “Shut up! Why did she look back when we passed? Answer me!”
S. D.: “I—”
S. M.: “Shut up! Did you ever have a date with her? Answer me!”
S. D.: “I—”
S. M.: “Shut up! Did you ever kiss her? Answer me!”
S. D.: “I—”
S. M.: “Shut up! How many times? Answer me!”
S. D.: “I—”
S. M.: “Shut up! Did you ever love me? Answer me!”
S. D.: “I—”
S. M.: “Shut up! Pack up my toothbrush, Marie. This wretch is leading a double life. I’m going home to mother.”

Fat American: “I lost ten pounds last week.”
Englishman: “Bah jove! You American chappies certainly are careless with your money.”

Ma: “Johnny, run over and find out how old Mrs. Brown is today.”
Johnny (upon returning): “Mrs. Brown says it’s none of your damned business how old she is.”

Dr. Mosely: “What does sea water contain besides sodium chloride?”
Freshman: “Fish.”

Dr. Smith: “Mr. Sullivan, name an organ of the body.”
“Pat”: “The tooth.”
Dr. Smith: “Well, what kind of organ is the tooth?”
“Pat”: “A grind organ.”

Bride (to salesman): “Please, sir, I’d like a little oven.”
Salesman: “Pardon me, but not while your husband’s around.”
"A breath-taking attack from the rear."

"She: "You'd better get a haircut."
He: "But it costs a lot."
She: "Well, it's cheaper than buying a violin."

* * *

The modern girl may have her faults, but at least she's not effeminate.

* * *

HA, HA!

Gravy: "Why does an Indian wear feathers in his head?"
Ham: "Well, why does he?"
Gravy: "To keep his wig warm."

* * *

"You are keeping something from me!" hissed the villain.
"Certainly," said the sweet young thing. "I ain't no Salome."

A SHORT PLAY by an Unknown Russian Dramatist

(Dramatis Personae: He.)

He: "Whoa!"
(A pause.)
He: "No?"
He: "Giddap!"

* * *

THE CATTY CLUB

Mazie: "Why don't you wear a one-piece bathing suit?"
Gwendolyn: "I think they're too modest, and show up the form too plainly."
Mazie: "Oh, I haven't much of a shape, either."

IN MEMORIAM

Here lies the body of Heine Stout—
He laughed at his girl when her teeth fell out.

OLD REGULARS LITANY

McNair is our leader, we shall not lack iniquity.
He taketh us up from obscurity, and placeth himself in the Hall of Fame.
He irisketh us of our ballot, and draggeth us up into the machines of politics for its own sake.
Yea, though we walketh through the valley of defeat, we feareth not the crookedness of our adversary. For art not Mac's own crookedness our salvation? Selah!
He prepareth our ticket even among our adversaries. He lineth up our votes with discretion. He stuffeth the boxes to overflowing.
Surely public infamy and political exaltation shall follow us all the days of our existence, while we supporteth Old Regulars forever. Amen.
(Note: The Editor will not be held responsible for the above. It was handed in by the Medical School.)
Judge (to culprit): “So we caught you with this bundle of silverware, eh? Whom did you rob?”

Inexperienced Burglar: “Two fraternity houses, sir.”

Judge (to orderly): “Call up all the downtown hotels and have them claim this stuff.”

Prof. Northrup: “That’s the fourth time, Haas, you have looked at Mr. Cahn’s paper. Stop it!”

Haas: “Yes, but Cahn is such a punk writer!”

Prof.: “Why did James II and his wife, Mary, flee from England at night?”

Student: “Because they had lost their supporters.”

Optimism Plus

A group of war veterans were discussing Thanksgiving. One of the guests was a chap who had lost both legs.

“And what have you to be thankful for?” they asked.

“Lots,” he replied. “I’ve got cork legs, and I can put on my socks with thumb-tacks.”

White: “I want to do something big and clean before I die.”

Horse: “Wash an elephant.”

(The point of this joke is that an elephant is a very large animal, and, therefore, by washing it one shall be able to do a big, clean job.)

* * *

Minister (at baptism of a baby): “His name, please?”

Mother: “Randolph Morgan Montgomery Alfred von Christopher McGoo.”

Minister (to assistant): “A little more water, please.”

Service

Entering the restaurant, the well-known crank seated himself with customary ceremony.

“I’ll begin,” said he, “with oysters. One dozen—and mind that they are natives. I want them on the deep shell. Not too large and not too small. Choose them carefully, and be sure that you do not bring me any that are not fresh and plump.”

“Yes, sir—certainly, sir,” replied the waiter. “And will you have them with pearls or without, sir?”
Jan. 5, 1925.

Dear Janie:-

Please send me an check for twenty-five or fifty dollars as college expenses are getting higher and higher each year. I am feeling fine and hope to meet you soon.

Yours,
Walter.
Fraternal Licks

Sigma Nu

The snakes were surprised, it is said,
When young Gordon Heffron was wed;
   But if Benedict lags
   In his Sigma Nu brags,
Then the rest of Tulane will drop dead.

Phi Kappa Sigma

It is really remarkable how
This group is so little known now;
   While so seemingly quiet,
   They are really a riot;
In their ranks there is always a Rau.

Omicron Tau Alpha

Do you honestly think it quite fair
That these boys should be given the air?
   Why, there's no harm at all
   In an informal call—
And Ramsey was not even there.
Kappa Nu

We're a very young chapter, it's true,
But just think of the things that we do.
    We've a man in the band—
    Why, that's perfectly grand!
And some day we may even have two.

Pi Kappa Alpha

To greatness we do not aspire—
An occasional job, or a fire.
    What are glory and fame?
We've a far greater aim—
To please Carron's our only desire.

Phi Delta Theta

Among those who all liquors despise
Are our friends, the Ursuline Phi's.
    They've a star on the track,
    And at golf Fred's a crack,
While the Coach is the debutante's prize.
Beta Theta Pi

Now this is a musical crew—
Athletes, to be sure, quite a few:
In the wide open spaces,
We'll soon see their faces,
For their frat house is falling in two.

Sigma Alpha Mu

Now Ben's a good man on the team,
And their medical grades are a dream.
As to other endeavor
Forever and ever,
They're utterly out of the scheme.

Delta Sigma Phi

Now Klorer and Morgan and Hooks
May not shine when it comes to their books;
But, what is much better,
The last two made their letter,
And John's not so dumb as he—seems when he sticks tacks in the ceiling.
Kappa Sigma

With effort the Kappa Sigs tried
To conceal the two points of their pride,
But for Murray on courts,
And for Murray in quarts,
Their delight they just simply can't hide.

Sigma Chi

We could hardly conceal our surprise,
And we doubted the sight of our eyes;
Just a word to explain:
We found her at Tulane—
There are still one or two Sigma Chi's!

Delta Tau Delta

They've a fullback that never gets full,
And a linesman who's strong on the bull.
But what can they do
Without William C. Frue
When they want some political pull?
Zeta Beta Tau

This bunch was decidedly inferior,
And their chapter grew more and more drearier.
But with Barnet and Cahn
A boom came along,
And now they are brothers superior.

Sigma Pi

His lectures on bones, old and hoary,
Are Georgie Bechtel’s greatest glory;
But if he only knew
That his frat was dead, too,
He could add Sigma Pi to his story.

Pi Kappa Phi

Here’s a toast to good old Pi Kappa Phi,
When all ward bosses now alive die,
When there’s no one of note
Who is seeking a vote
Watch our “papa,” J. V. E. I.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

If you join, through poor judgment, this throng,
And admit, after two years, you’re wrong,
They’ve a plan most attractive,
You’re rated “inactive”—
But how could you stand them that long?
Delta Kappa Epsilon

In athletics they first honors took,
But their scholarship won't bear a look.
Admiral Peary's a brother,
And "Brother's" another—
Now soon they will pledge Captain Cook.

Kappa Alpha

These birds boast an attribute rare:
The poor chaps are all losing their hair.
Ford showed them the way
For a new home to pay—
But it's good their alumni were there.

Alpha Tau Omega

Three stars on our pledge pin you see,
That's more than we have, actually,
But we had a plan
To elect our best man
To the Commerce presidency.
Bid and Asked

Being the only one capable of properly evaluating the relative values of the common stocks of the various female fraternity Greek Letter Corporations, I am, of course, a non-frat girl. Let none of my personal deductions encourage or influence any unsuspecting prospects to go in on any of these propositions. You are liable to get painfully rooked. I possess a feeling much akin to a superiority complex from enjoying “this freedom.” A word to the wise is superfluous. For instance:

Pi Beta Phi

At first, when I received my pie fie bid, was tempted to invest heavily. I was young and foolish and didn’t care what became of me. But they were so exclusive that I feared that they wouldn’t take in my little sister, who comes up next year. You see—well—she is fat— I am beginning to think that the election of student body president might be turned over to this chapter. Think of the unfortunate plight were I forced to hold that irresponsible office merely because no one else in the chapter were eligible! Besides, I am too aristocratic to be congenial with Katherine Glenny, who is known to associate with all the common brood.

Alpha Omicron Pi

Anyone owning shares in this organization should sell all badges, paraphernalia, etc., and deduct their loss from the next income return. However, Nora O’Neil is one of the most representative girls on the campus. Certain it is that she gives her enthusiastic support to all dormitory activities. Most people seem to agree that Elizabeth Land is worth about two hundred dollars a front foot, and is one of the best dressed girls about Newcomb campus. I wonder whether Lucille of London or the Apaches of Paris design her costumes. In spite of such assets, this bunch is rated in Dun and Bradstreet’s as YYY???
Chi Omega

Yes, I got my Christmas card from Chi Omega, Inc. I thought of sending them a New Year’s card to make them happy, but during the holidays I dreamed so much of skull and crossbones that a spirit seemed to say to me, “Nix, nay,” and similar negatives. They have become so confident that they now rush Kappa little sisters. (See my views on Kappa, below.) I wonder if a clause in their ritual reads, “Thou must be popular”? It is apparent that all of the hitherto retiring little sophs are bundled off to all the dances and introduced to the “nice boys.” Since the dazzling Anola has withdrawn her far-felt influence, one of her little shadows now strives to be the pillar of the chapter. Keep it up, Amoret!

Kappa Kappa Gamma

I didn’t invest in this “laughing stock,” being wise to the machinations of the noted oil promoter, Smith. I might say that I didn’t “Fall” for this Teapot Dome. Of course I don’t know what the K. K.’s stand for, but I do know that they are very klannish. The Greeks must have had such a word as “debutante,” as the present Beta Omicron seems to have but one desire—to produce as many belles as possible. And it is too bad that more of the Newcombites do not go out for more activities, as Blanche Foster and Corinne Robin do. Think of the wonderful teams and clubs we would have! The alpha and omega of it all are Rai Graner and Beatrice Ford. So, young girls in your 'teens (or whatever you’re wearing these days), beware of the Kappa Kappa Gammas.

Phi Mu

I’ll give you the real low-down on this layout. Their stock is as far below par as their stockings below the knee. “Les fideles soeurs,” as they call themselves. Well, well, well! But then, anyone can see that girls so alike as Gelene Stallworth and Adele de la Barre must find it easy enough to agree on almost any subject. And these two can be taken as an example of the whole chapter. Dick Covington and Frances Page give one of the prettiest pictures of friendship in this affectionate chapter. Who on earth was that tactless person who would not let them alone to tell each other good-bye before the Xmas holidays? After reflecting on the above, a moron could deduce why I plant my shekels in Phi Mu.

Alpha Delta Pi

Shades of "Doc" Cook! Like the A Dee Pi's, he meant well, but he's doing the same thing at Leavenworth that this bunch is doing at Newcomb—sitting back and taking what he can get. No pardon here. The "Doc" invented invisible petroleum and promised the boobs millions; now, what about A D Pi "promises?" But, on the asset side, if they'd give Juanita lessons in art and Jenny tersichorean instruction, they might be able to keep out of bankruptcy a few more years. Selah!

Kappa Alpha Theta

I might have gone in on this if I had been sure of a reasonable amount of interest. But they are using all of the capital assets expanding the business in Florida. The law of diminishing returns will get 'em if they don't watch out. The whole chapter is noted for its beauty of form and face value, but I am beginning to think that the prize winner, a Creole belle, must have Turkish ideas on the perfect feminine form. "Pat" Thompson would make an equally irresistible boy—in fact, she was unanimously voted the most fascinating "jelly" at the mandolin-guitar club party. Oh, that such charm should exist under one standard!

Alpha Epsilon Phi

I don't know why I wasn't asked to amalgamate with this crew. But they are controlled by the pork trust, and yet not a bit piggish about the freshmen (or, rather, freshwomen). They just sit back and look over the eligibles with an eagle eye. One of their directors was heard saying, "Oh, we don't have to rush the freshmen! They rush us." One of the most gifted of this society is Marion Pfeiffer. Of all her varied individual characteristics, her fondness for writing notes to the philosophy teacher on "Why I didn't take my quiz" is the most striking. Last year there were rumors of a rival to this famous frat. Little beaus—I mean bows—were seen on several blouses. But that's about all it came to. I suppose the Sherman act didn't phase them. After the rule had been frustrated, the dues jumped a couple of ducats.

Pee Pies

This organization came into being only last year—a closed corporation. They want to let good enough alone, so will not take in any more stockholders—me, either! There is a rival company, organized solely through jealousy, known as the Popeyes, but, having been jumped on by Uncle Sam for using the males to defraud, they have lost caste in the community. The Pee Pies perish with commencement, but their high sign is copywrited, and any future use or abuse of it will be prosecuted.
The model shown on this page is our very latest importation from Great Britain for the truly discriminating college man. The coat is extremely long this season, having three vents, each terminating in a small velvet or satin triangle. The collar has a one-quarter-inch satin edge. Button spacing will be wider this season, the buttons now being one inch apart. The vest is cut very low, to show a greater area of shirt front, and its ends are pointed. Bell bottom trousers—London's latest contribution to young men's styles—will be featured this season. They are close-fitting around the thigh and expand gradually from the knee downward. Double-trouser crease patent leather pumps, with white soles, or light yellow brogans with elevated tips, as pictured below, will be very much in evidence along the more fashionable drives. Extremely large-peaked light-colored or checkered wooden caps, with the original fuzz still remaining, and brown derbies will be seen much around the campus.

A man's personal novelty which has taken Broadway and Times Square by storm, and bids fair to become very popular with the collegian—especially the frat man—is the new black silk collar here featured. It is designed to be worn with a light-colored or striped silk shirt, the stripes being the fraternity colors of the individual wearer.

Another much-favored importation is the button-hole cravat, which is kept in place by the buttons of the shirt, and which definitely eliminates the hitherto seemingly indispensable tie pin and clasp—and renders also the buttons of the shirt, both ornamental and useful.
HOLLEMAN'S PLAYS DRAMATIC HITS

The dramatic genius of Albert E. Holleman has led to a most successful theatrical season upon the campus. As playwright, director, this wizard of the footlights is responsible for every production staged here for the past years.

So conscientious has been the work of ALBERT E. HOLLEMAN, affectionately known as "Chester," that he believed that one dramatic organization was incapable of realizing his ambitions in the dramatic field. At the beginning of this scholastic year, he devoted his efforts to the formation of a new and larger organization to assist the labors of the first one.

Tulane has been most fortunate in having the services of this theatrical marvel. He had already made a national name for himself in directing work at Tulane, but his real personal supervised the filming of some of the greatest motion pictures ever thrown upon the screen. Among the stars of the silver sheet who owe much of their success to Holleman's assistance are numbered Mary Pickford, Nazimova, Rodolph Valentino, Gloria Swanson, Douglas Fairbanks, Norma Talmadge, and Ben Turpin.

But it is not only in directorial work that Holleman's talent has displayed itself. He has demonstrated his unsurpassed ability as a playwright also. Only in this past season has he produced a scenario which could have come from no other brain than his, a story the like of which has never been seen before, and which will probably never be seen again. Perhaps the most intriguing feature was the startling originality of the plot, depicting the uncomparable spirit of a scrub on the football team, who, getting his first chance to play in the last two minutes of the biggest game of the season, scores the winning touchdown, and thus gales his letter and the girl who had thwarted him.

But even farther do Holleman's labors extend. He has shown that he is a most capable financial manager in theatrical affairs. All of his productions have proved enormous monetary successes, due to his genius in presenting plays at a minimum cost. Moreover, his efforts won so much sympathy that the student body, through its representatives in the Student Council, gladly donated a huge sum of money to assist Holleman in his work.

HOLLEMAN'S DANCE GALA FUNCTION

Albert E. Holleman's dance on the steamer "Capital" on the night of February 6 was one of the outstanding social events of the season, with all credit for the success to "Holly," as he is affectionately known by his schoolmates.

Although he is, perhaps, years older than the average student, "Holly" is still a boy at heart, and he likes to see the young folks enjoy themselves. His role of host at the party was perfectly performed, with all the dignity and courtliness characteristic of his great heart. His many honors have not turned his head, and he found no difficulty in unbinding and mixing with the merrymakers.

That "Holly" enjoys a good joke, even at his own expense, was shown during the evening. One of the officers of the boat, mistaking "Holly" for a deckhand, gave him some order about getting out the gangplank. "Holly" laughed jovially, and explained that he was not a deckhand.

HOLLEMAN NOT TO SUCEED DINWIDDE

Rumors that Albert E. Holleman had accepted an offer to succeed Dr. A. B. Dinwiddie as president of the university were vigorously denied tonight by Mr. Holleman.

"I am not in a position to say whether such an offer has been made to me," Mr. Holleman told the reporter, "but I would not think of accepting it. Mr. Dinwiddie tries hard, and, while he may lack my natural ability, he has done very well. Furthermore, Mr. Dinwiddie is a man in the prime of life, with a large family. I am still in my thirties."

"When I gave up my commissions in the army," continued Mr. Holleman, or "Holly," as he is known to his host of friends and well wishers, "I was made a very flattering offer by a large lumber firm. But I knew I was needed at Tulane, and now that I have put the student body upon a sound basis, I am going to devote my time to adjusting the business affairs of the nation."

HOLLEMAN'S TALENT PUTS OVER BAND

Tulane's campus was plunged in gloom this morning at the announcement of Drum Major Holleman that he intended to give up his leadership of the band in June. "I want to give someone else a chance," said the great musician, simply. "I never wanted the job originally. It was forced on me."

The drum major's resignation comes at the close of a most auspicious regime. Chosen in competition two years ago by a committee composed of A. E. Holleman, Albert E. Holleman, and Holleman, the drum major immediately set about teaching the band the finer points of music. Although Holleman is a master of some dozen musical instruments, he was satisfied to devote his time to advising the band members rather than embarrassing them by actually playing any instrument himself.

It has been said rightfully that Holleman is responsible for the excellent showing of the football team during the past season. Whenever the Tulane team had possession of the ball, Holleman would call for music, and in this way prevent the opposing eleven from hearing Tulane's signals. True, the Tulane players were unable to hear either, but this was unimportant, as the spectators' interest in the game was centered chiefly in the band. Reserved seats near the band were sold weeks in advance, and bets were laid as to how much more the drum major would add to his costume each week.

Holleman, or "Holly," as he is affectionately called by the "boys," is also responsible for the excellent manner in which the band was drilled. The drum major was able to train the band in the finest military style; for, as he modestly admits, he was leader of his regimental band during the war, as well as having been a captain in the infantry, a major in the air service, a colonel in the tank corps, and a nurse in the Red Cross.

CALL ME "HOLLY"

I want all you fellows to call me "Holly." I'm one of the boys. Just as each of you is, and I don't want anyone to feel that he can't come to me, just as he would to anybody else. I'll work for you as hard as I can. As long as I'm with you, you'll be able to get anything you want.

Now, let's all be a big, happy family. I know that I'm making a sacrifice to be with you, but I'm glad to do it for you fellows. I haven't sought all these honors.

My renomination for president was a great surprise to me, but I felt that, since the boys all wanted me, I owed it to them to accept.

There's only one thing that I insist upon. I won't have any politics in anything I'm concerned with. Remember, I'M FOR YOU, BOYS!
I'm a stag—
A lone, lone stag.
I'm the cat that walks
All by himself.
Women—ha! ha!
I never worry my head
With tugging any squaw about—
Or, what's worse,
Tugging her home again.
I'm nobody's fish—
No theater tickets,
No cafe bills,
No nothing—

"Hello, Mary! What are you doing Friday?"
"Shucks! What about Saturday?"
"That's too bad. Can I see you Sunday?"
"Gosh! Well, what about the afternoon?"
"Sorry. Guess I'll wait until next week.
Wait a minute, though—want to come to Sunday services with me—yes? Gee, that's great!"

Dear Helen:
The university sometimes becomes very tiresome, so I am, therefore, trying to find solace in penning these few words to you.
Always, of course, I am thinking of you, even though I participate in all the festivities of college life.
The other evening at the Chi party I saw a very dear friend of yours, Evelyn Bell.
I like her very much. She is so sweet and thoughtful. I didn't know it was she until she made herself known. We all went on a party, and she and I were paired off to-together—quite by coincidence. We danced with each other all the evening.
Hope Haven—you know her, of course—was also present, but I'm afraid I did not pay too much attention to her. She is so forward, and, I am afraid, somewhat inclined to be, as we say at college, "improper."
If I continue in my work as well as I have in the past, I hope to make Phi Beta Kappa.
You will make it very pleasant for me
by writing sooner.
Sincerely,

THOMAS.

Dear Squats:
This damned place is giving me more and more gripes every day—if something doesn't explode around this dump I am going to lay down somewhere and pass out. Forgive me not writing a speil earlier, but I've been on pro, and the profs are all laying for me to slip on a peel—but it's no soap for those babies.
I had a blind drag to the Chi lay-out last night, and, believe me, Annabelle, that weenie was some kick—NOT. She's that goofy wishy-washy squaw that used to play mama and papa with us—or, rather, I mean you, I got stuck with that cart for the whole evening. Take it from me, sweetie,
I did penance for all my sins. Her name is Evelyn Bell—God, what a nasty taste those words leave in my mouth.

Hope was there, too—but I only saw her from a distance. There's a heifer for you.
Just a plain kill, that's all. Getting a grand rush, too—but not from yours truly. I know when I'm well off. I ain't no millionaire.

I would jaw some more, Hots, but I have to begin boning for finals. If I do as punk as I have been doing, these monkees are going to hand me a royal rooking, and give me the proverbial ship. Toodle-loo—and sling us a line or two in between pettings.

Yours in Chi Beta Kappa,

Tommy.

Quién Sabe?
"Football ain't what it used to be," sighed the old grad. "In a couple of years the rules will read like this:
'Tackling shall conform with the following ritual. The offending player shall recite:
'Roses are red,
Violets are blue;
If you don't stop running
I'll tackle you.'

'Whereupon the defending player shall answer:
'Old lace and lavender—
Rouge and new shoes—
If you are horrid,
I hope you lose.'

'Thereupon the ball will be declared dead, and the representatives of each team named pallbearers.'

Ballad of the Rum Fleet
"This booze is good," said William Wood,
"There'll be no morning after."
With which retort
He drank a quart,
'Midst revelry and laughter.

But life is tough—
'Twas bootleg stuff,
Sold by some hardened grafter;
But Bill was right—
He died that night—
There was no morning after.
Four years have wrought changes in Hicks' morals and views—
He spends every penny on females and booze.
While, though strange it may seem, Cog's won renown
From Phi Beta Kappa and Carnot on down.

The new musical comedy came to town. The billboards read:

Ten students were killed and several dozen horribly mangled in the rush at the opening performance.

From the Manuscript Found Amongst the Papers of Godar Slavasky

Scene: The drab interior of a cabin high up in the Urals. Lyof Deminnoskyleedoff, a brutal Cossack, having captured Myrtle Brown (flapper, aged 19), has taken her to his lofty perch, to imprison her until she promises to marry him. From the window back the audience can see the snow falling. Occasionally there is a burst of wind that shrieks like a mad woman.

Lyof: "Ah, ha, me proud beauty, I've got ye in my power at last!"
Myrtle: "Apple sauce!"

Lyof: "Zis place you shall not leave until ze time come for us to wend our way to yonder parsonage, there to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony. By Allah I swear it!"

Myrtle: "Atta baby!"
Lyof: "Gott und himmel! Spurn you my love?"
Myrtle (simply): "I do."
Lyof: "Sapristi! You tell me that to moine face?"
Myrtle (getting poetic for the first time): "Call ye that a face?"
Lyof: "Listen, sugar, Ah'm tellin' youah the hones' fac'. Ah love you more than 'lasses 'n' pancakes. Won't you be mine?"

Myrtle: "You're so masterful! Of course I will."
Lyof: "Dunner und blitzen—she agrees!" (He crushes her lips to his own.)

Myrtle: "Ouch! Your beard sticks!"
Lyof: "I'll buy a Gillette for our honeymoon. Now whisper my name and tell me you love me."

Myrtle: "Very well—but what is your name?"
Lyof (declaiming): "Lyof Deminnoskyleedoff."
Myrtle: "What?"
Lyof: "Lyof Deminnoskyleedoff."
Myrtle: "No—I don't love you."

(Enraged, the Cossack takes her in his arms and opens the door. He raises her unconscious but beautiful body over his head and hurls it from him. There is a dead silence. Then, far away, can be heard a series of dull thuds as Myrtle goes bouncing along the Great Glacier. Closing the door, Lyof bites off a piece of Wrigley's and cuts another notch on his wooden leg.)

Curtain.
A Dreamer in Old Spain

(Reprinted with copious additions from the Minnesota Ski-U-Mah.)

Scene: The king's palace, in Madrid.

Characters: Queen Isabella, King Ferdinand, Mister Christopher Columbus.

(Note: The Jambalaya prints this so that the dramatic societies will have one good play for next year's program.)

Curtain rises, showing King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella seated, right, eating grapefruit.

Queen Isabella: Ferdie, old popper, I have made up my mind I am going to help Mister Columbus discover something.

King Ferdie: If you do, it'll be on your own hook. He doesn't get a single piece of eight from me. I don't know, though—it might be a good way to get rid of the pest. He's been hanging around the palace too much lately. Almost as much as Somner Benedict will hang around Newcomb five hundred years from now. Anyway, your interest in that common sailor is becoming scandalous. People are beginning to talk.

Queen Isabella: Tut, tut, old chappie. I haven't forgotten that little trip you took to Paris last month on "business." I heard that the snappy Countess de Tour—

King Ferdie (hastily swallowing a grapefruit seed): Now, my dear, I know your interest in Columbus is purely philanthropic. Do just as you like about it. But don't forget you're a queen. (Goes to telephone.)

"Hello, central—give me the correct time, please. What—ten o'clock?" (He hangs up.) I must be going, dear. I've got a golf date with a prime miss— I mean the prime minister—so I must be off.

(Exit Ferdinand.)

Queen Isabel: I'll say you must be off. Damn these stockings—they won't stay rolled. (She stoops over, away from the audience, and rolls her own.) Ferdie is a good king, I guess, but as a husband he's a total loss. I wish I could find a regular daddy.

(Columbus crawls from under the table.)

Columbus: I heard you ask for a daddy, so I popped in.

Queen Isabella: Oh, Chris, you little devil! You thrill me so! Kiss me.

Columbus: But, your majesty—

Queen Isabella: Come on, now, don't try to high hat me. Remember, even if I am a queen, I've got a reaction. I command you!
Columbus: Of course, if your majesty commands. (They kiss.)

Queen Isabella: Ferdie says he won't give you any ships or money to discover America with—the tight-wad! But don't you worry—I'll make October 2, 1492, famous yet. That is the date you set on, isn't it? I'll just hook Ferdie's Sigma Iota pin. It ought to bring enough to buy a few catboats.

Columbus: We must hurry, though. If I don't all the history books will be spoiled. And the song that goes—

"In fourteen hundred ninety-two,
In the city of Genoa
There lived a queen named Isabel"— won't ever be able to be sung.

Queen Isabel: Your ships won't be ready for three weeks, and, according to Elinor Glyn, much can be done in that time.

Columbus (gnashing his teeth): How can I ever tear myself away? You are so beautiful—your lips—your hair!

Queen Isabel: Don't get too passionate, Chris, or Dr. McBryde won't let us go in The Jambalaya. But do not torture yourself with the thought of parting now. Let us drain the golden goblet of love. Our days shall be symphonies of love, and our nights—ah, they shall go down in history as the Nights of Columbus!

(Curtain.)

After the Ball Was Over

Who the hell has hooked my hat?
'S a crime the way guys swipe
Your only lid and leave you flat,
With nothing to wear but a gripe.

It's gonna be chilly travelin' home,
The object of quip and of jeer,

With naught to cover your shivering dome
Between your crown and your ear.

Confound that low-down gang of skates,
Who'd steal your sole caw-bean!
Ah! Here's a six and seven-eights—
Come, let's go home, Eileen.
Games That May Be Played in Class

I. Pop the Weasel (to be played in Torts)
   The professor will pass out paper and pencils for this event. At a given signal, all the inmates of a given row of seats will run to the window, comb their hair and then seat themselves and write the license numbers of all the Fords that passed the University.
   Prize: A paddle.

II. Tit Tat Toe (to be played in Real Property)
   The professor will ask a certain question taken from the day's assignment. The students will then each take turns guessing the answer. If a member of the class answers correctly, he shall be forced to leave the university. (See the Honor System.) There is really no point to this game, as the professor is always supposed to win.
   Prize (to professor): A plate of soup.

III. Merry-Go-Round (in Roman Law)
   In this game the professor, immediately after roll call, will tap twice upon the desk with his pencil. Upon this signal the students will hold themselves in readiness, and the professor will say, "Go!" Whereupon all the students will leave by the nearest exit—doors, windows, transoms, etc. The first student returning before the end of the period will be expelled. (See the National Geographic Magazine, Vol. 98, page 22, paragraph 6, line 10.)
   Prize: A Roman toga (made from imported Swiss cheesecloth).
Simple: "I heard Tulane goes back to Napoleon."
Ton: "Now—it just goes back to Freret."

Do You Know

1. That there are no bones in custard?
2. That out of one hundred girls at a masquerade, dressed as Madam Dubarry, one hundred think they look like Pola Negri?
3. That out of the same number, one hundred look like hell?
4. That if all the boxes of cigarettes sold in New Orleans in one day were placed on top of one another, they would probably fall over?
5. That catfish are not generally caught with canned peaches?
6. That banana peel was no relation to Sir Robert?
7. That listerine is not used as a cure for diabetes?
8. That America was not discovered by Captain Peary?
9. That if all probation notices issued at Tulane in one session were laid end to end along the equator, how far they would reach?
10. That if all the Math. books published since 1476 were bundled in piles of four and placed upon the ocean bed, starting at New York, they would all get wet?
11. That nitric acid will cure your cold?
12. That the authors of this are generally considered sane?
Better to Sleep Than to Hear

At a recent banquet the principal speaker was exceedingly long-winded. The chairman, becoming annoyed by the ever-increasing disorder, gave a tremendous thump on the table. Off flew the gavel head, coming to rest swiftly and surely upon the bald head of a very bored man, who, without even a groan, slid under the table. Upon being told that the victim was regaining consciousness, the speaker went on again.

"My Gawd!" said the stricken man, upon opening his eyes, "I still hear his voice. Hit me again!"

Famous Last Words

"You can pull the trigger—the gun isn't loaded."
"Hell, yes, this ice is thick enough to skate on."
"Watch me stay under the surface ten minutes."
"We can beat the train to the crossing."
"My husband is in Chicago."
"Let's take this curve going sixty."
"I'm a Tulane man, but I bet on L. S. U."
"This bootlegger always has good Canadian Club."
"Say, Dalzell, I think you're full of bologna."
"Porter, here's a quarter—give me fifteen cents change."
"I'm going to jump—is there a net there?"

The Birth-Mark
(Thanks, Hawthorne, Old Kid.)

Long nights I had dreamed of her. Her virginal beauty, her blue eyes, the dancing curls of her hair—all these things haunted me. Finally, I managed to meet her. It was on the tennis court. I had watched her for a long time, glorying in her strength—her strong, Amazonic beauty—the supple play of her fine limbs. There was only one thing to mar her beauty—sometimes it was there and sometimes it was not—a tiny brown scar that reached from her mouth to her chin. My heart ached at the sight of this blemish, and I would have willingly given my all to do something to remove it.

I met her, as above recorded, and was more dazzled than ever. Beauty—grace—brains. What more could man desire? I was determined to marry her.

That night I took her to a dance. In her low gown of bluish gray she was wonderful—like some gorgeous fairy from a book of mysterious tales.

I could only find one fault with her—she chewed tobacco. Damn these athletic girls!

"Just shocked to death."

A True Confession, or "Bluebeard's Twelfth Wife."

By A Black Sheep.

All my life I have suffered hardship. My earliest recollection is of my father coming home brutally drunk and eating up the peppermint candy I had been hoarding for seven years. At the age of nine, my grandfather promised to take me to the zoo, but he never did. This neglect drove me to desperation, and one afternoon in May I stole from my home and went to the park alone. Everybody, taking pity on my youth (I was only fifteen), was very kind to me. Several really sweet boys drove up and asked me to ride, but, as they were going in the opposite direction, I could not accompany them.

Finally I made my way to the zoo. How beautiful everything was! The monkeys monkeying around, the camels walking a mile, and the elephants tripping lightly over the grass.

Then, in the midst of all this happiness, a shadow crossed my path. I was very young and did not know the cruel way of the world. But he was beautiful—this zoo keeper, with a moustache that wreathed and curled about his nose like Spanish moss. What eyes he had! Eyes that seemed to burn into my very soul—make me forget life, honor, family, country—everything. For a long while we sat in the monkey house and talked. He told me how beautiful I was, and promised to make me a present of a baby hippo. This affection on his part completely overwhelmed me—but the treachery of men! Later, vile wretch, I discovered that the only hippo in the zoo was a male.

But I did not know that then, and so I promised to marry him. Woeful day! The wedding was set for two days later, and when I sneaked into the house that night I was very happy. I would have told my father—but he was so cruel. And, besides, he never did like zoo keepers, because he did not believe them to be social enough to associate with a former hodcarrier's daughter.

On Friday, the 13th, I was married. At that time I imagined myself to be the happiest girl in the world. My husband bought me a $1.98 fur coat and we had a magnificent wedding dinner at Thompson's. The only thing that happened to mar the occasion was when my husband spilt soup down an old gentleman's neck who was sitting back of us.

That night we left for Kansas, where we joined a circus. The gay life of the sawdust ring enthralled me at first, and I lived in a state of continual bliss. But if I had known the terrible thing that was even then happening to me, I would have run to the farthest ends of the earth. Alas, alas!

There was a young circus rider who was very much in love with me. His name was Tony. Tony had a horse whose name was Tony, too. Me, I liked both Tonies—but I still loved my husband.

All the while, however, an uneasy feeling took hold of me, and I sensed a great change coming over me. Sometimes at night I would awake thinking that someone's hands were on my chin and cheeks—but as soon as I opened my eyes, there was nothing. Only my husband, sleeping beside me. At these times, however, there would be a strange, pungent odor in the air, and my face was damp all over.

Thus things continued for a long time. My beauty completely captivated the whole troupe. Even Zu-zu, the clown, who had been married fifteen times, was in love with me. Of the terrible thing that was about to happen, I did not even remotely dream.

One day, however, the horrible secret was discovered. It was Tony, the straight, handsome rider, who found it out. He had just finished making another love speech to me, and it was so pretty that I thought he should be rewarded with a kiss. He took me in his arms and, smoothing my fair hair, he kissed me. Then, just as though he had caressed a viper, he flung me from him.

"Away, vile creature!" he shrieked. "Let me never see the sight of your face again!"

Completely dumfounded, I could not comprehend the situation, and the only thing I could say was, "Oh, Tony, how could you?"

But Tony looked at me as though he beheld a ghost, and dropped dead at my feet. Tony, the horse, was standing near by, and I went up to him.

"Antonio, dear animal," said I, "what, in God's name, is the matter?"

But the horse took one look at me, and then he dropped dead, too.

Completely distracted, I rushed into my dressing room. Everywhere I passed, people moved aside to give me room. In the sanctity of my own room I looked into the mirror. Through the tears that had come to my eyes, I could at first see nothing. Then, as I blinked them out, the full horror of the situation dawned upon me. The realization was too great for me to bear, and I fell to the floor in a dead faint.

I was growing a beard!
I WAS GROWING A BEARD!

You have by now, perhaps, guessed my secret. My treacherous husband, jealous of my charm, had, with a diabolical fiendishness, anointed my chin each night with Herpicide. This was the explanation of my troubled sleep, the cold hands, and the strong odor.

And now, an old woman, I sit day by day in a side-show, posing as the "Bearded Lady."

Moral: Never marry a zoo keeper.

The Way Things Don't Happen

A clear field and the ball nestled under his arm. Far behind him he could hear the thudding heels of the last opposing player. White line after white line, each marker a step closer to goal and victory, flew under his speeding shoes. The crowd was cheering—what a noise they made! Not far to go now—ten yards—five yards—one yard now, and the game would be won. Glory would be his forever. He saw his name in the headlines, "Thompson scores spectacular touchdown!" And then suddenly he stopped. Tears dimmed his eyes. Bowing his head, he put the ball down two feet from the goal and walked off the field.

He remembered an appointment he had made with the English professor for four o'clock.
"Listen, Abe, why do you keep on going with that girl when everybody in town kisses her?"
"Y'ell, dere's only five hundred thousand people in the town."

Aesop's Fables a la Mode

"Ahem," said the manager to the college graduate applying for a job; "what can you do?"

"Oh, I can play the piano, violin, and saxophone, drive an automobile and a Ford, throw a nifty petting, drink a quart without batting an eye, play at halfback, shortstop, and forward—"

"Enough! Fine! You can start in the morning as president of the firm."

II.

Jim: "Going to the Zeta lay-out tonight?"
Jimmy: "Naw."
Jim: "It's going to be a good party—wine, women, and song."
Jimmy: "Naw."
Jim: "Mary Blake's going to be there. She likes you, too, you know. Good-looking, good dancer, good car, plenty jack—"
Jimmy: "Naw."
Jim: "All-night party—good stuff. Breakfast in the morning—no putting out of dough. Better come."
Jimmy: "Naw, I'd rather stay home and study French."
Sot'li: "Don't you know that the green belongings on the hair, and not under the feet?"
Frosh: "Well, what do you want me to do—stand on my head?"

Yesterday
Our prof
Came into the Classroom
Smiling sweetly
For the first time in years,
And he looked Into our faces
And said:
"You fellows
Know your stuff
So well that
I can assure
You all of Getting by.
And now the Class is excused
For the day.
And, remember,
Don't study
Too hard,
Because some
Of you are Delicate." And
Just then
The door Opened and
A few members
Of the faculty
Came in with a Cop, and took our Prof to the Nut house.

Just when
He was getting Brains—poor
Prof!
* * *
They had been
On the porch
For many hours,
Silent—strangely
Far apart.
She had red lips,
Golden hair—
He
Was not so hot.
She sighed.
He
Sighed, too.
Finally:
"I wish
I had money,"
He said;
"I'd travel."
Then,
Like some startled faun,
She thrust
Her hand
Into his—
And was gone!
Lost,
In the shadows
Of the night.
Bewildered,
He opened his Hand—in his Palm
Lay
SEVEN CENTS!

Science: "Do you care for horses?"
Halt: "No—I wait on the table."

Jambalaya's Etiquette Hints

(An indexed code of behavior for the young people of Tulane and Newcomb. Address all inquiries to Etiquette Editor—Urban D. Mooney.)

In the Classroom.—Students attending classes should always be properly attired. Pajamas and track suits should never be worn, even on the warmest days. Remnants of egg yolk should be carefully washed from the lips after breakfast, and bread crumbs and gravy stain should be carefully brushed from the coat. Under no circumstances, even in moments of utmost familiarity, should the instructor be called by his first name. The word “Mr.” or “Doctor,” or “Professor,” as the case may be, should always be appended.

On the Campus.—Fellow school members should always be greeted with the polite salutation, “Hello, gentlemen.” (Remember, dear readers, hypocrisy is the greater part of tact.) In addressing co-eds or ladies, if the hat be on the head, it should be politely removed to the accompaniment of the following salutation: “Good-morning, Miss Smith, Miss Brown, or Miss Jones,” as the case might be.

In the Fraternity House.—The shoes should always be scraped clean before entering the fraternity house. On entering, a hearty, “Hello, there, you chumps!” should be extended to all the good brothers, thus exhibiting a spirit of true fraternalism. If there is a guest present, treat him as though he were a guest in your own home. Do not make remarks about the shape of his legs or the size of his nose, as it might discomfit him. If the dinner hour is near, the guest should be asked to remain for dinner, and not requested to leave, even though his staying is an additional expense to the fraternity’s commissary. (Remember, dear reader, that expense is sometimes the greater part of politeness.)

At the Dinner Table.—In drinking soup, care should be exercised so as not to suck up the liquid with a gurgling noise. If the soup should happen to contain a fly, have the whole plate sent back to the kitchen. The guest will never know, when it is brought back, that the fly has simply been removed. He will think that a new helping has been served you. Never—and this is an important canon to remember—should the fly be removed with the fingers while at table.

Coffee, if served, should never be poured into a shallow saucer, as this might endanger the cleanliness of the table cover. If saucers must be used to drink from, be sure to always select a deep one.

(Cleanliness is the greater part of godliness.)

The cook should, in the presence of company, always eat her meal in the kitchen—especially if the guest is an Englishman, as the subjects of Great Britain have not the same conception of democracy as have Americans.

At the Prom.—(For the gentleman.) When breaking, never slap the girl familiarly upon the back. Always say, “May I break?” even though you know darn well you can.

Always have some quaint remark to make, as “All right, Bill, I push the cart around,” or “Good gosh, woman, where did you get that face?” Such remarks always liven up the conversation,

187
(For the Lady.) Turn to the man who is leaving you and say, "Thank you, goofus," very loudly.

Never greet the new man with "Well, Peter, how are you?" especially if it is the fourth or fifth time he has cut in. He might get peeved and tell you.

If a young man of very sloppy appearance breaks, do not say, "What second-hand clothes dealer do you get your suit from, stupid?" Our younger professors sometimes dance.

If a young man has tugged you about for an hour or two, do not say, when he is finally relieved, "Do cut in again!" Honestly, it won't do you a bit of good.

Her: "Do you believe what people say about me?"
Him: "Well—now that I have the bare facts—"

The cheapest
Guy I ever Knew was the Kind papa
Who gave the kids
A nickel each
To go
To bed without Supper,
Stole them back
Whilst the kids
Slept peacefully on,
And made them go
Without breakfast
For losing their Nickels.

But Johnny
Says he knew
A man
Whose wife
Checked out,
And who Went to a Medium to talk
To her spirit,
And after he Had gotten Into communication,
Tried to reverse
Charges on
The sending Line.
